THERE'S NO TIME FOR KIDS TO BE KIDS

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Extreme pressures on school children are driving them towards heart attacks and nervous breakdowns, a college professor says.

Professor Ronald C. Doll of Hunter College, City University of New York, said children are given little time just to be children.

"Children who come home from school after a day of intense activity have to be hauled away to their music or dancing lessons, to a medical specialist, to special language instruction, ad infinitum to heart attacks and breakdowns."

DEPUTY SHERIFF searches a spectator entering the courtroom in Dallas today where Jack Ruby went on trial for the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald. All persons entering the courtroom were searched as a precautionary move. Jury selection is expected to last a week.

Defence Loses Twice As Ruby Trial Opens

DALLAS (UPI)—Defence lawyers vainly sought a directed verdict of acquittal at the start of Jack Ruby's murder trial today and then lost a bid to have jurors searched as a precaution against "the climate of Dallas." (See Page 3.)

Rejecting the defence demands, Judge Joe B. Brown called in a panel of 150 prospective jurors for questioning behind locked doors. He ordered 10 to return for further questioning and 100 were told to report back Tuesday morning. Fifteen women were excused.

Chief defence attorney Melvin Bell charged outside the court that "our (hotel) rooms have been bugged, our briefcases gone through and our telephones tapped."

But he said he was sure his room was not "bugged" now with any eavesdropping device.

SMILING

Ruby, smiling cheerfully, entered the court through a little green door and took a seat at the defence table, where he intently studied the names of would-be jurors.

The defence asked Brown for a verdict of acquittal on grounds Ruby suffers "organic brain damage" and psychomotor epilepsy, which causes "blackouts." The defence argued the 52-year-old slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald was innocent on those grounds.

Brown rejected the motion and another motion that Ruby should be freed on grounds of double jeopardy.

All spectators and newsmen entering the room were frisked for weapons. The defence demanded that members of the jury panel be submitted to the same thorough search by deputies and court matrons.

"Jurors must be searched to show the climate of Dallas," Bell said, as part of the defence contention that Dallas cannot give Ruby a fair trial through fear and animosity.

"This is the court's business, not the business of the defence," said Assistant-District Attorney A. D. (Jim) Bowie.

DIGGING FOR CLUES

Green Thumb Gang Terror in Suburbs

SEATTLE (AP) — Police tried again Sunday to dig up clues in the case of the green thumb bandits before the shrub-and-plant thieves pulled up another yard.

The garden-by-night gang struck for the third time Saturday and raised more than 40 assorted plants from seven homes in a suburb just north of Seattle.

The night before about 55 shrubs vanished from residences in west Seattle, and Thursday night more than 60 expensive plants were spaded up on the east side of town.

Officers theorize the thieves are well-versed in the gardening vocation. They seem to concentrate on rhododendrons, azaleas and viburnum and remove the plants during darkness with expertise. Many of the missing plants are valued up to $25 each.

WIRE BRIEFS

Cease-Fire Failure

ADDIS ABABA (AP)—A cease-fire in the Ethiopian-Somali border squabble appeared today to have fallen through as each side accused the other of new attacks.

Grenade Hurlled

Maritimes Battered

HALIFAX (CP)—A wild snowstorm that has claimed at least three lives continued to pound the Maritime provinces today with high winds and driving, blinding snow. In northern New Brunswick, fire raced through a store early this morning, claiming three lives, two of them children.

2 On Missing Copter

TRENTON, Ont. (CP)—An Okanagan Airways helicopter with two men aboard, reported missing Sunday north of Fort Albany on the west coast of James Bay, was the object of a wide-spread search today.

Their names were not available.

13 Deaths in U.S.

BOSTON (AP)—A sneak northeastern United States storm whipped by gale force winds deposited up to 18 inches of snow and caused at least 13 deaths in New England. Many highways, cleared of all but an inch or two of packed snow, became covered by sheets of ice.

Fencer Badly Hurt

BUDAPEST (AP)—Zoltan Horvath, Hungarian sabre fencing champion and winner of numerous important fencing meets abroad, was critically injured in a car accident, the Hungarian news agency MTI reported today.

UN OBSERVER WINS TRUCE IN TOWN

NICOSIA (Reuters)—Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani, United Nations observer in Cyprus, said today Greek and Turkish Cypriots in the north-western mining town of Polis had agreed at his urging not to fight each other.

Earlier reports said Greek Cypriots had surrounded 700 Turkish Cypriots in Polis. One hundred British paratroopers were reported heading for the town.

A British military spokesman, announcing the manoeuvre, said the Turks were inside a school building, dispirited and short of food. Greeks were dug in 100 yards away.

There was no shooting overnight but the situation was tense, the spokesman said.

'Well Received'

By ALEX YOUNG

OTTAWA—Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson today said he received a "very sympathetic hearing" from Prime Minister Pearson when he submitted a brief to the government seeking more government work for B.C. shipyards.

"Of course," he added, "we didn't expect the prime minister or Mr. Drury (industry minister) to make a decision today. There was no indication given of which way any decision might go."

"It is up to them. We have done our best."

Before meeting with the prime minister and the industry minister, Mayor Wilson sent to the prime minister a box of spring flowers from Victoria.

"The prime minister was delighted," Mayor Wilson reported.

UN Postpones Cyprus Debate

(Times News Services)

UNITED NATIONS—In a surprise move, the United Nations Security Council today postponed for 24 hours scheduled debate on the Cyprus problem.

The adjournment was proposed by Norwegian delegate Sievert A. Nielsen, who said Britain and Cyprus had agreed to permit more time for consultations. There were no objections.

Earlier, the U.S. and Britain disclaimed intention to partition Cyprus between its battling Greek and Turkish communities.

Parallel Anglo-American statements came as the Security Council prepared to meet to seek a solution of the communal fighting that private U.S.-British diplomatic efforts were unable to settle in the face of opposition by Cypriot President Archbishop Makarios.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson issued a formal statement saying:

"Press reports from London that the United States is seeking to isolate Archbishop Makarios, and favors settlement of the communal conflict in Cyprus by partition, are untrue."

NOT U.K. POLICY

A British delegation spokesman said "stories of cantonization of Cyprus bear no relation to current British policy."

In Washington, undersecretary of state George W. Ball, just returned from an unsuccessful effort to win Makarios' agreement to a NATO peace force in Cyprus, said President Johnson shared his conviction that the United States should not seek to impose a solution.

"Our purpose is not to impose or dictate or even suggest the terms of a final solution," Ball said after reporting to Johnson, "but to bring about conditions . . . of law and order."

The Anglo-American strategy was to seek to head off any Soviet attempt to stir up the situation here and await developments in the debate before making a formal move for U.N. action.

U.K. Accuses Cyprus Of Smuggling In Arms

LONDON (Reuters)—Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys said today he made "a most vigorous protest" to Cypriot Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou Sunday about the flow of arms into Cyprus.

Sandys told the House of Commons:

"I explained to him that we had ample information to show that this import of arms is taking place with the full knowledge and approval of the Cyprus government."

Sandys, reporting on the latest situation in Cyprus, also said the British government remained convinced the revised Anglo-American plan for an international force on the island afforded "the most reasonable and rapid means of creating in Cyprus a peace-keeping force."

Commenting on Britain's weekend decision to put the Cyprus issue before the United Nations Security Council, Sandys said the British government was not prepared to support a resolution in the council which could be interpreted as an accusation of aggressive intentions against any of the guarantor powers, Britain, Greece and Turkey.

Nor would Britain support a resolution overriding any of the three treaties concluded after Cyprus received independence.

Wilson Presents Brief at Ottawa

By JOHN MIKA

Prime Minister Pearson today was asked to rebuild the defunct Canadian merchant marine to stabilize the west coast shipbuilding industry.

This could provide the long-range answer for the industry's main problems, Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson said when summing up a brief he presented to the prime minister in Ottawa.

The brief was released simultaneously here. It was carried to Ottawa by Mayor Wilson, Chamber of Commerce president E. E. Pearlman, labor representative Ald. A. W. Toome and North Vancouver Mayor W. M. Angus.

IMPENDING CRISIS

The five-page brief warned Mr. Pearson of an "impending crisis in our shipyards" and suggested two immediate aids:

● Letting of contracts forthwith, for this coast's shipyards, of the proposed three Esquimalt-based destroyer-escort multi-million-dollar conversions.

● Expediting of the five-year $165,000,000 federal shipbuilding program with a higher proportion of the work going to the west coast.

"There is need also to take a serious look at the need for long-range stabilization of the west coast shipbuilding industry with its past history of 'feast or famine,'" the mayor's brief said.

START REBUILDING

"The answer to this could well be a start on the rebuilding of a Canadian merchant marine."

"It is hoped this will have the serious consideration of your government."

The brief said the government's decision to reorient and modernize the defence establishment was courageous but changes of such magnitude could disrupt vital industries.

The majority of the big west coast shipyards face "the grim prospect of unemployment" while undergoing the impact of warship mothballing plans and cancellation of the all-purpose frigate program.

INSTANT WORK

"The need now is for 'instant work' in these yards if we are to forestall large-scale unemployment," it said.

Mayor Wilson pointed out Greater Victoria's present unemployment rate stands at 8.17 per cent of the labor force, compared with a national average of 7.5 per cent.

THIS WEEK

Shipyard Talks May Resume

Possibility was seen today of renewed negotiations this week in the 12-day-old shipyard strike.

David Chapman, chief union negotiator in the strike which has idled the "big three" yards here and in Vancouver, said that fresh union-management talks could be initiated sometime today.

He said that if more talks are decided upon, they will probably take place this week.

UNIONS THINKING

"The unions are doing a lot of thinking," he said.

"There's no great difference of opinion," he added, commenting on a weekend press report that differing views are keeping the 22 unions from presenting a common front.

"There is one basic position, and no matter what comes up, if the majority accepts, there'll be no problem."

TWO-YEAR PACT

Unions are basically seeking a two-year contract, with possible alternatives of wage increases over the two years of 40 cents or 30 cents.

Mr. Chapman said union demands at the negotiating table are much governed by the management position.

The 2,020 strikers are now in their 13th day of picketing at VMD and Yarrow's in Victoria, and the 12th day at Vancouver's Burrard Dry Dock.

Dock Unions Ask Use of U.S. Ships

gave tacit approval today to a union boycott that has halted loading of American wheat for Russia in two gulf coast ports.

But he said he was working at President Johnson's request to settle the dispute between maritime unions and the government that led to the longshoremen's refusal to handle grain in New Orleans and Houston.

The problem would be settled, Meany told a news conference, if the administration would see to it that 50 per cent of the Russian-bound wheat is sent in American-flag vessels.

He indicated he was seeking new assurances from officials in Washington to achieve that objective.

New Session 'Acid Test' For Cabinet

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament meets Tuesday with a changed executive and a slightly different mood from the post-election session of last May.

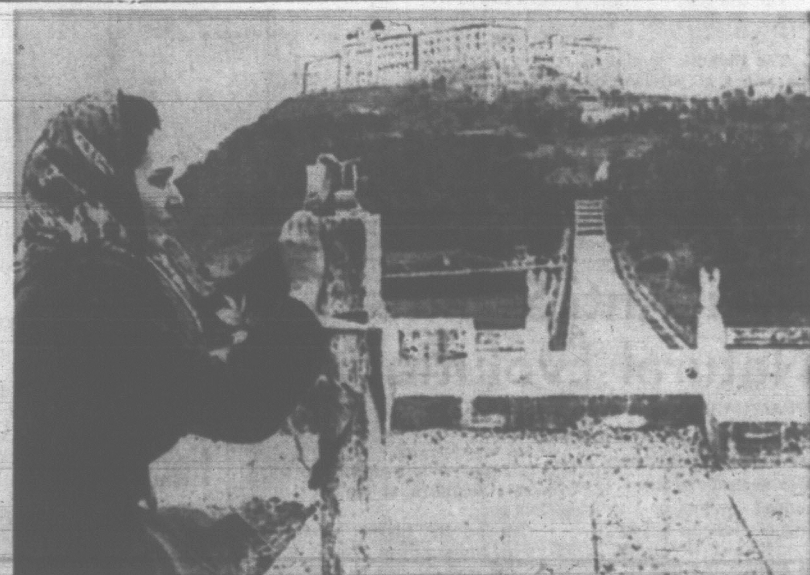

The session, which starts with the reading of the throne speech by Governor-General Vanier, will be the acid test of the new ministerial lineup and cabinet reorganization worked out by Prime Minister Pearson since the last session in December.

It also may see less attention from the opposition parties to the issues arising from last spring's election that brought the minority Liberal government to power.

The Progressive Conservatives, fresh from efforts at national convention to head the party firmly on the comeback trail, are expected to spend more time on the "should-be" of the legislative program than the "might-have-beens" of their losing election effort last year.

NO DANGER

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Gordon Gibson's shrewd jibe at Waldo Skillings in the legislature last week sent a lot of Victorians scurrying to their dictionaries to check his definition of the old English word "skilling." (An outhouse).

Gibson quoted Oxford, Webster's New International confirms his definition, but adds this:

"A coin, usually worth less than one cent."

Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral is an athlete who used to play rugger and cricket in the Old Country. Now he confines his recreation to golf, and is a keen member of Oak Bay.

On Saturday, he found himself opposed in a foursome to one of his Cathedral parishioners. The Dean's drives were long and straight; he chipped like a fiend; he putted as though the ball had eyes. The result was a lop-sided victory for the Dean's side.

In the 19th hole the parishioner, who had given five strokes, murmured: "Tell me, Mr. Dean—will you be going to confessional Sunday morning?"

Speaking of Oak Bay—wonder if we could persuade the committee to huddle with tourist commissioner Alan Maclean and invite Shell's "Wonderful World of Golf" here next year, for a TV golf spectacular on the only seaside course in the Northwest?

Vancouver got fabulous publicity Sunday when Shell featured the thrilling duel between Stan Leonard and George Knudson, which ended in the 66s over the Capilano course. The producers let their cameras roam through Stanley Park, English Bay beaches and the harbor front, thus advertising Vancouver's attractions to a world-wide audience—for free.

Oak Bay has equally spectacular camera angles—as old Shell hand Dick Clay would gladly testify!

Nancy and Monte Drake, returned from Mexico on the weekend to learn that Nancy's brother—Dan Lang of Toronto—had just been named a Senator. At 44, he's one of the youngest in history.

What makes Nancy's situation unique is that she now has a brother appointed Senator by Liberal Mike Pearson and a husband appointed Judge by Tory John Diefenbaker!

What's a girl to do? The unflappable Nancy says: "Don't talk politics at family reunions."

Seventy-five young men from $100-a-week wage earners to executives chartered a plane to take them to Las Vegas for a weekend frolic that made some wiser, some richer.

Mostly Victorians, the group included a few from Vancouver who took part in a package deal providing air transportation and accommodation while in the gambling centre.

Interesting side note: One of the passengers was a well-known shipyard executive; another a member of the striking Boilermakers' Union.

As newspaper men, this week we were shook by Look, the picture mag which published the first three-dimensional photograph ever reproduced in mass quantities by any publication.

The picture of a bust of Edison and a collection of his inventions appears to be an inch thick, until you reassure yourself by feel that it's just page depth.

We don't know when we'll enter the field of 3D but we foresee some problems, some of our politician poseurs are so darn shallow.

It may have taken a while for the Beatie craze to hit this town; but once it came, it conquered.

Sale of wigs is continuing briskly, and as for the sale of records...

"Fabulous," gurgled the record stores.

One store sold 50 Beatie singles in one afternoon, and quite a few albums.

Yeah, yeah, yeah.

Driving thought for the week:

Most accidents occur at speeds less than 30 miles an hour.

Therefore, in the interests of safety auto manufacturers should build a car that accelerates from nothing to 30 in practically no time at all.

Thus eliminating most accidents.

It's one day up and the next day down, as Mehitabel the cat used to quoth.

And as the city police have found out.

A few weeks ago, they were reduced to writing notes on the backs of old police court summons forms, instead of the neat white notepads they used to have.

Now they are supplied with printed forms all their very own, with little spaces on them to cover every emergency.

Victoria university students made their reluctant way back to classes today after a two-day mid-term break unique in British Columbia.

The holiday is vestigial of Victoria College—one of the finer things retained by the new institution—originating partly to give students a chance to study for the Easter exams.

It is the last breather before Easter weekend, when the university will be closed Good Friday to Monday inclusive (March 27-30).

This will be final opportunity to do concentrated swotting before the start of sessional examinations April 16.

Surprise of the week at Victoria Chamber of Commerce is a letter from a lady in England wanting to buy English china from Victoria.

Mrs. Helen Rolfs, 3 Tavistock Court, Tavistock Square, London, WC 1, said she bought some beautiful English china from a store in Victoria but could not remember its name.

"Would you please send me a list of the better china shops? Then I would perhaps recognize the name... I wish to order some more merchandise."

The chamber sent Mrs. Rolfs a list of five Victoria china shops.

The Bulletin, published weekly by the public relations department at St. Joseph's Hospital, recalls that in 1887 nurses worked from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. every day except Sundays when they were "on leave" from 12 noon to 2 p.m.

They were required to sweep and mop floors; dust the furniture and windowsills; bring in a scuttle of coal when reporting for duty; fill kerosene lamps; clean chimneys, trim wicks and wash windows.

They were told to "make your pens carefully and whittle nibs to your own individual taste."

Nazi Anti-Semitism 'Natural Evolution'

FRANKFURT (AP)—A German historian told the Auschwitz trial today that Nazi atrocities against the Jews were a "natural, evolutionary development of German history."

Dr. Helmut Krausnick, 58, of the Munich Institute of Modern History, told West Germany's largest war crimes trial that "Adolf Hitler was not an accident but the result of centuries of anti-Semitism in Germany."

The prosecution called Krausnick to the trial of 22 former SS elite guards and Nazi functionaries at Auschwitz concerned with the camp to tell what caused the Germans to support a government which tried to liquidate world Jewry.

Krausnick is a specialist on anti-Semitism at the Munich Institute.

Tracing the history of German anti-Semitism from the middle ages, Krausnick said the Nazis were the first to make it a basic policy of government.

Krausnick said that although Hitler always intended to wipe out world Jewry, many other Germans, both members and non-members of the Nazi party, were merely interested in shipping the Jews out of Europe.

BRIEF

rate of 5.1 per cent, and the area faces the prospect of a 2,000-man layoff.

This would break up the skilled shipbuilding teams assembled on this coast while waiting for the new federal shipbuilding program to get into high gear.

ECONOMIC EFFECT

"We are concerned also with the economic effect upon the economy of the areas where the shipyard workers work and live," the brief said.

"The effects of unemployment and loss of payrolls has an accumulative effect upon the economy, particularly in the area of Greater Victoria where the shipyards, with approximately 3,000 employees, are the largest employers of labor next to the civic service."

"The first to be affected by such layoffs are the supplying trades, who are in turn forced into layoffs and, secondly, the retail establishments encountering reduced trade levels which necessitate reductions in staff."

"Other businesses begin to feel the pinch and of necessity curtail their activities until everyone from trucking and wholesale business to the corner store experiences a reduced income and a resulting decrease in employment."

FEW ORDERS

Victoria's two large yards, between them, now have on their books orders for only a $450,000 ferry, one destroyer escort conversion, several barges and the Pacific Naval Laboratory's $4,500,000 vessel, all to be completed by the end of 1964, the brief said.

Mayor Wilson also pointed out a great disparity between west and east coast shipyards with the Pacific industry receiving only 13.37 per cent of the $358,805,800-worth of contracts underway in Canada during the 1962-63 fiscal year.

"We do not begrudge the massive aid that the federal government has afforded to the Maritimes in various ways to deal with their specific economic problems," said the brief.

SPECIFIC PERSON

"Now we at the west coast have a specific problem of impending unemployment in our shipyards and we ask that we be given the same understanding, consideration and appropriate assistance."

The brief wound up with the requests for keeping warship conversions here, obtaining a higher percentage of all ship contracts and rebuilding of a merchant navy.

NEW SESSION

no paramount national issue arises.

Both the 17-member New Democratic and the 11-member Social Credit groups have taken public stands that an election now would be wrong and there's need for action on or additions to the government's legislative plans.

However, the 95 Conservatives can be expected to take a tougher line on the government's legislation and the political issues which arise.

CIVIC LANDSCAPING CONTRACT

'Easy Mark' Charge Angers City Builders

Suggestions that local contractors aren't sufficiently competitive have made them angrier than wasps in a disturbed nest. Stinging rebukes today were aimed at City Hall by three contractors who were particularly angered with remarks at last week's civic precinct committee meeting suggesting local contractors thought city jobs an "easy mark."

The committee's criticisms were touched off by tenders for the precinct landscaping contract which saw Conniston Construction Ltd. of Vancouver enter a low bid of $95,536, well below three bids by local contractors that reached as high as $124,000.

"BE SURE FIRST"

"They should be sure of their facts before they make public statements," said George Langdon, president of Victoria Building Industries Exchange.

"I don't believe that any of the local contractors who submitted prices on landscaping are working anywhere near capacity so they have no reason to pad their prices."

"It's true there is a large amount of construction work going on but a lot of it is promotional work, such as the high-rise apartments, which are built by the developers and we don't even get a chance to bid on them."

Mr. Langdon said even the Conniston bid was 17 per cent above the city's estimate.

"They should take a realistic view of costs—as they are today, not 10 years ago—when they make their budget estimates. Then they wouldn't have this controversy."

Mr. Langdon said the building exchange currently is negotiating with construction workers but the wage talks were in such an early stage that he doubted the controversy would affect them.

But plumbing and heating contractor Michael Griffin severely criticized city officials for their comments because he claimed it could affect the wage negotiations.

DISQUIETING

He indicated charges that contractors are enjoying a "glut" of work "brings very disquieting overtones to the delicate negotiations which are presently in progress."

"Right now many construction trades are making substantial demands on the industry in amounts representing increases of $1 per hour and more, which would bring wage rates well above the equivalent of $4 per hour," said Mr. Griffin.

"To date, good faith is being shown by both sides in the negotiations but this will rapidly degenerate into sweeping unfounded allegations if further unwarranted charges are made."

Mr. Griffin, a former alderman, suggested a system he supported of negotiating contracts with local firms, rather than calling for bids, had proved satisfactory when it was tried on city paving work.

HAVE ROOTS

He said it should be remembered that local contractors pay taxes and have roots in the community. Out-of-town contractors on the other hand do not pay taxes and do not even support local charities the way Victoria firms do, he claimed.

Mr. Griffin was particularly critical of city planning and estimating officials.

"It would appear some members of the city administration are either badly informed by advisers or are making clumsy attempts to shift responsibility for guesswork on the part of those preparing construction estimates," he said.

OLD TRICK

"An old and favorite trick of those preparing plans and specifications is to make a wishful-thinking guess of the amount involved and then cry 'foul' when they are pulled up short by legitimate tenders by practical contractors."

Mr. Griffin also lashed out at award of a heating plant contract to a Vancouver firm for the civic precinct project, which he claimed was involved in a faulty bidding procedure.

George Farmer, vice-president of the building exchange, said the Conniston bid was below Victoria tenders because they either made a calculating error or they don't plan on using skilled union labor.

DOG'S BREAKFAST

He said using unskilled men would result in the landscaping project looking "like a dog's breakfast."

Mr. Farmer contended that "tenders in this city are really competitive. There is no guessing—and there is something fishy in this outside contract."

Justice Hugo L. Black, delivering the majority opinion, said federal courts have authority to look into congressional districting.

"While it may not be possible to draw congressional districts with mathematical precision, that is no excuse for ignoring our constitution's plain objective of making equal representation for equal numbers of people the fundamental goal for the House of Representatives."

"It is not an exaggeration say that such is the effect of

Cast Takes Stage For Dallas Trial

JACK RUBY

JOE B. BROWN

MELVIN M. BELLI

By ARTHUR EVERETT

DALLAS (AP)—Here in brief are the principals in the Jack Ruby murder trial:

The accused—Jack Ruby, 32, born Jack Leon Rubenstein, March 24, 1911, on Chicago's west side. Fourth child of eight born to a carpenter, who came to the United States from Poland 60 years ago, after service in the armies of the Russian czar. Spent some time in foster homes when parents separated.

Peddled novelties, scalped tickets and hustled here and there before serving as a state-side mechanic in the U.S. Army Air Force 1943-46. After his honorable discharge, he came to Dallas about 15 years ago and changed his name to Jack Ruby. Took over The Carousel, a downtown strip tease joint, and The Vegas, a dance hall.

A health faddist, he worked on body building exercises, kept three pampered dogs in his apartment. A flashy dresser, he doesn't drink, smoke or use profanity. Never married. Twice arrested for carrying a pistol, once for fighting.

Nov. 24, 1963, he stepped from a crowd of onlookers at Dallas police headquarters and before a television audience shot to death Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

PLEADS INSANITY

Charged with murder with malice aforethought, punishable by death, his defence is temporary insanity, brought on by shock and grief over president's death.

The judge—Joe B. Brown, 55, grey hair, bushy eyebrows, five feet, 11. Born in Dallas, educated through high school. He worked for the Texas and Pacific Railroad when a friend took him along by chance to enroll at Jefferson University School of Law in 1931. His instructors in this now defunct institution included Federal District Judge Sarah T. Hughes, who administered oath of office to President Johnson after the Kennedy assassination.

Graduated in 1934, he was elected justice of the peace the next year, advanced to criminal judge in 1944, and elected in 1957 to the criminal district court. Has tried more than 30,000 cases.

Hunts deer but doesn't relish killing them. Divorced, with a son who is a justice of the peace. A pipe smoker, he has had four heart attacks. Has an amiable personality.

For the state—Henry M. Wade, 50, criminal district attorney of Dallas, five feet, 10, weighs 200 pounds. Has 12 assistants, a total staff of 80, an annual budget of $400,000. In 13 years in office, has sent 24 of a possible 25 criminals to the chair.

FATHER WAS JUDGE

Born in Rockwall, Tex., Feb. 11, 1914, he was the son of a county judge, and one of seven brothers, of whom five are lawyers or judges in Texas. Was Rockwall High football captain and valedictorian of class of 1933. Went to the University of Texas on a football scholarship, and roomed with Texas Governor John B. Connally Jr., who was wounded by President Kennedy's assassin.

Served as an FBI agent 1939-43, entered the navy as an ensign, served aboard carrier Hornet in battle of Leyte and the Philippine invasion.

After the war, he served as assistant district attorney of Rockwall County, then practised law privately. Elected to his present $16,000 a year post in 1950.

Married to his onetime secretary, he has three daughters and two sons.

For the defence—Melvin M. Belli, 56, San Francisco lawyer and senior member of the firm of Belli, Ashe and Gerry. Handsome, silvery haired, he has been involved by his estimate in at least 100 lawsuits in which awards or settlements came to $100,000 or more.

LECTURES AT SEMINARS

One of the country's foremost negligence lawyers, he has written several books and lectured at legal seminars on the law as it pertains to personal injury suits.

Carries a red plush brief case, wears cowboy boots and a fur-trimmed coat. Sometimes brings to court a human skeleton named Elmer, to demonstrate arguments involving bodily injuries.

Been called a flamboyant publicity seeker. "I'm not flamboyant," he says, "I'm colorful."

3 HELD IN KASHMIR FOR THEFT OF HAIR

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Police have arrested three persons in connection with the theft of a hair of the Prophet Mohammed from a shrine outside Srinagar, Kashmir, last December. It was announced in parliament today.

Nandla said those arrested would be tried under Kashmir's penal code and for allegedly offending religious sentiments of the people.

The hair was restored in January a week after it was stolen.

The theft of the sacred hair, discovered missing from its shrine Dec. 27, caused widespread rioting and demonstrations in Kashmir.

Island Man Named Assistant to MP

OTTAWA (CP)—The use of Executive assistants, those special aides to busy people including federal cabinet ministers, may be spreading to the private member of Parliament, Stuart Fleming, Conservative MP for Okanagan-Revelstoke, said in a statement today that he has employed William I. Macadam of Campbell River, B.C., as his executive assistant.

Rites on Tuesday For Lecturer Mrs. Aitree-Coley

Mrs. Gertrude Aitree-Coley, well-known writer and lecturer for the British-Israel movement, died here Saturday.

Born in London, England, she came to Victoria 70 years ago and was the widow of the late Major Arthur Aitree-Coley.

Mrs. Aitree-Coley is survived by her sisters, Mrs. Alice Blythe, of Victoria, and Mrs. Dora Cowie, of Nanaimo.

She leaves four nieces, Mrs. E. D. Farmer, Mrs. R. E. Lambe and Mrs. R. S. Tapp, of Victoria, and Dr. Lillian Cowie, of Georgia, U.S.A.; and four nephews, Clifford Blackstaffe, Victoria; Elmer Blackstaffe and Frank Cowie, Nanaimo, and Herbert Blythe, Sooke.

Bishop Denys A. G. Rankin, of the Church of Our Lord, will conduct funeral services in Chaplin's Funeral Home, at 2:30 p.m., Tuesday, followed by burial in St. Mary's Churchyard, Metchosis.

Cyprus: Why and When?

By HAL MCCLURE

NICOSIA (AP)—Old enemies are again at war in Cyprus. How did the trouble start? The causes are complex and rooted in the history of the island.

For more than 300 years Turkey ruled Cyprus as part of the Ottoman Empire, although the population was predominantly Greek.

Between the Greek and Turkish communities there are deep divisions in culture, religion and way of life. The Greeks yearn for enosis—union with the Greek homeland. The Turks want the island partitioned.

There also is a controversial constitution which gives the Turks a veto over legislation proposed by the Greeks. Both Greece and Turkey are empowered by treaty to intervene in Cypriot affairs in an emergency.

All these factors play a part in the communal strife.

Blessed by sunshine, scenic beauty and archaeological treasures, Cyprus should be a land of peace. And for the 82 years of British colonial rule, both communities lived in relative peace.

But in the final phase of the fight for independence from the British in the late 1950s, Greek and Turkish Cypriots clashed with the Greeks accusing the Turks of siding with the British in hopes of partition.

FRICIONS DIDN'T END

The frictions were not ended by the 1960 constitution and treaty guaranteeing the island's independence.

Greek-Cypriots claim the constitution gives the Turkish minority favored treatment over the Greek majority, including veto powers for the Turkish vice-president.

The first stirrings of trouble came in December, 1962, when Greeks and Turks were unable to carry out constitutional provisions to set up separate communal councils in five towns.

The Neighbors

ONE OF THE GREATEST CONundrums of the world today is tied up in the relations between the Soviet Union and Red China. How deep is the apparent schism between them? How real are the bitter charges they make against each other? How true are their occasional assurances of basic solidarity?

The answers to these questions are important to the two great powers concerned. They may be even more vital to the world.

The quarrel between the Communist partners has at times been couched in terms which seem to preclude any possible reconciliation. They violently oppose each other on ideological grounds and their own interpretation of Lenin on world revolution. And they less obviously are engaged in a titanic world power struggle on what are in reality good old nineteenth century lines. These rivalries should be sufficient, one would think, to divide them forever.

Yet it cannot be forgotten that both are Communist states. There are many ideological grounds on which they still share a common stand. There are many world movements in which they can be much more successful by working together than in opposition. And they have a common enemy, the United States—alone or with its Western allies—against which they must defend themselves either singly or in concert.

It is the latter facet of the problem which gives the United States a great responsibility and opportunity. There can be little doubt that under present conditions too great a pressure by the West against either Communist state would quickly bring the other to its defence. On the other hand, a policy of Western co-operation with Russia—which Mr. Khrushchev has energetically been encouraging—will do much to widen the gap between the Communist partners.

This is particularly the case in view of Russia's swing to international competition through industrial might rather than the revolution by force still favored by Red China. And we must never forget that Communism itself is changing. The Communism of Russia today is not that of twenty years ago, still less that of forty years ago—nor has the capitalism of the West remained unchanged.

Time may well bring the Soviet Union and the West much closer in their ideological thinking if the present trend is continued. And time raises another vast conjecture. Red China, with more than 600 millions of people, is still only pushing through the doorway of the twentieth century—into the era of the atom and of space. What will the future bring to this colossus; what will it make the future bring it?

Moscow may do well to assess its prickly partner with cold self-interest and an eye to the future. And the West must work for a governable globe which will not be in imminent danger of exploding into two, or even three, uninhabitable parts.

Speak Up, Mr. Kiernan

MR. KENNETH KIERNAN, British Columbia's minister of conservation and recreation, says he has no comment to make on the suggestion by Lillooet's Social Credit member, Mr. Donald Robinson, that private interests should be allowed in public parks to develop them on 21-year leases.

The minister should have some comment on that proposal and it should be given without delay.

For years commercial interests have attempted to gain a foothold in provincial parks. They have offered all manner of blandishments to the authorities: access roads, up-to-date facilities for tourists, modern conveniences and revenue. In return, all they want is an opportunity to make some money through parks exploitation.

For the same length of time, conservationists and public park supporters have withstood such appeals. They can be counted on to man the barricades again.

There may be tracts of real estate on which honkytonks are acceptable, where bowling alleys may be erected, where taverns are desirable, where neon lights, black-top, jukeboxes and hamburger stands have their places. But not in provincial or national parks.

It Begins at Home

CANADIANS HAVE BECOME accustomed to looking at other parts of the world, where bitter racial and religious struggles have led to carnage and deep human misery, with some feeling of smug satisfaction that such things cannot happen in this land.

The fact is, though, that this smugness is entirely unwarranted, as recent events have served to show. The Negro struggle in the United States has brought to light that in many parts of Canada there is severe discrimination against people of this race. The growing dissatisfaction of the French Canadians with their place in Confederation, a problem not without religious overtones as well, is disclosing a chasm of misunderstanding between the people of this country.

Can any Canadian claim that the native Indians of this country have had, or are getting, all the help and understanding and sympathy they need in order to bring them out of the poverty and squalor in which so many of them still exist?

These are things that Canadians would do well to ponder this week as the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews marks its fourteenth anniversary with Brotherhood Week across the nation.

There are festering sore spots of racial and religious discrimination that Canadians should appraise honestly and fearlessly and thoughtfully this week. From this appraisal there should grow the resolve that each individual must contribute to a solution to the problem of cleansing the nation of prejudice and hate.

It is true that racial and religious intolerance in Canada is apparent in lack of economic opportunity for certain persons and everyone knows it. It is a fact that certain barriers are erected against certain racial and religious groups in housing developments and other places and few Canadians are unaware of it.

It is also true that many Canadians who quietly condone these things can turn around and criticize the attitude of white southern Americans toward the Negroes.

What we must all realize is that brotherhood, like charity, begins at home.

Gordon Gibson's Reply

MR. WALDO SKILLINGS WAS obviously over-stepping the bounds of Legislative courtesy and good manners when he accused Gordon Gibson of being "tight" during a debate on the B.C. Electric take-over. Mr. Gibson's recent riposte demonstrates that, in this battle of wits, Mr. Skillings was sorely overmatched and most observers will rejoice that he has received his come-uppance.

Mr. Gibson may be a "bull of the woods." He may be rough and tough and outspoken. But his ability to cut through the double-talk of the House, to puncture sham and deflate the pompous, has earned him widespread admiration. He is a useful member.

Dr. Conant Criticizes Teacher Training

WHEN Dr. James Bryant Conant criticizes significant elements in American education, his voice carries across the 49th parallel and over the Strait of Juan de Fuca. In his recent book, "The Education of American Teachers," (McGraw-Hill Company, $5.95), the former president of Harvard, internationally renowned scientist, scholar and educator talks to the profession in the United States. The American educational system differs from that of Canada, and of this province. The differences, however, are probably less numerous and less important than the similarities. Hence wise Canadians listen to him.

Dr. Conant speaks clearly and courteously. He leaves no doubt that in his opinion the training of the American teacher suffers from several deficiencies. He pinpoints some of them and offers remedies. His recommendations invite a comparison with elements of teacher training in British Columbia.

Quarrel Among Educators

At the outset of his survey, extending over two years and assisted by outstanding figures in the American university field, Dr. Conant was immediately impressed by the quarrel among educators. Sharp divisions exist between the university as such and the faculty of education within it, or the college of education run elsewhere—between the institutions giving instruction in subjects leading, say to a liberal arts degree and those providing courses leading to degrees in education.

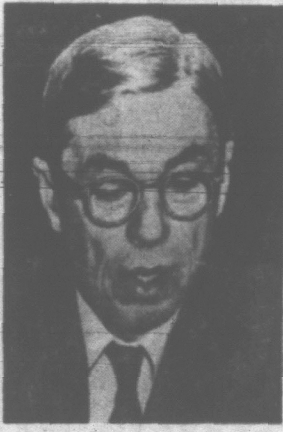

This is a familiar quarrel known in British Columbia as in other parts of Canada. The Department of Education at Victoria believes the broad effort to integrate College of Education students into the general stream of university work—apart from method courses—has largely overcome this antipathy.

How justified that belief may be is challenged by the inclination of undergraduate artsmen within our universities to refer, with an intellectual snobbery of questionable merit, to courses in the College of Education as "basket-weaving." There is cordiality in British Columbia institutions of higher learning, but it seems yet to fall short of brotherly love and mutual admiration.

Dr. Conant, in his American survey, by no means places all the blame for this quarrel on the alleged "shallowness" of College of Education instruction and direction in academic courses. In a large number of cases he holds the academic faculties responsible through their cavalier treatment of those Education College people genuinely trying to assure for their students treatment of academic subjects in depth by the university professors.

In British Columbia the relationship between academic and teacher-training integrated personnel ranges from warm cordiality to privately expressed disdain.

1964 Provincial Assessments

A recent press article indicates strongly that some at least of our new provincial assessments seem based on the theory that one sale makes a market and can be used to support new assessments.

Most people would agree that is not the case.

There are often very good reasons why one person will pay far more than a true market price.

A study of this shows the truth of the above argument.

I have studied real estate values closely, practically since Victoria was founded.

Wives and Children Suffer

A lot can be said for and against unions, but so far no one has come forward with a better idea for management and labor to get together to iron out their differences, and so we are stuck with them, and so also are we stuck with a strike in our shipyard industry.

As public opinion seems to be against the worker who is on strike, then why hasn't the union who is supposed to represent these men, come forward and issued a statement to the press stating clearly and precisely exactly what the situation is and what it is they are striking for?

Most people seem to think that the shipyard worker is one of the highest paid of all trades, and I have heard many misinformed people say that if a man is a machinist or an electrician then he is getting well over three dollars an hour. Well maybe they do somewhere else, but not in the shipyard.

My husband has been a tradesman in the same yard for 14 years. He supplies his own tools, and he gets $2.75 an hour. He still only gets two weeks holiday pay each year, and as it now stands, his seniority does not count when it comes to layoffs. Neither does he get paid for certain compulsory statutory holidays during the year, according to his union's agreement.

Now as I understand it, an hourly raise in pay is not the important factor in this dispute. The amount already offered by the companies is quite acceptable. It is a change in the holiday and the seniority clause that the men seek, and mainly a right to negotiate again in two years time, instead of being bound by a three-year agreement that the company is holding out for.

Because neither side is willing to give way even a little to the other's demands we are faced with this situation—the possibility of a prolonged strike—during which there will be absolutely no money coming in to feed and clothe three school-age children or pay the rent. Surely there must be some better way of handling differences of opinion between management and labor than to make wives and children the innocent victims of their bickering.

No wonder most of us are fed up with unions.

SHIPYARD WORKER'S WIFE.

Pensions and Companies

Re contributory portable pension plan. I think it is about time the people of Canada started a movement in this respect.

If all men and women, high salaried executives etc. were to contribute one half of one per cent of their gross earnings, deductible at the source, to the Federal Government of Canada into a pension fund we would have something. In this way the government would have control of this money and not the insurance companies.

The insurance companies are out to fight any government pension plan. Why? Because they alone are making millions of dollars per year from their own pension plans all across Canada.

Why are they able to insist that the government go slow on such a plan?

I am paying 10 per cent of my gross earnings into an insurance plan, deducted at the source (not portable), because I have no alternative.

If the federal government is able to set up a good pension plan for all federal employees in Canada, why not for all of us?

Immigrants From Algeria

By ALEX YOUNG

CAN French refugee farmers from sunny Algeria take Canada's stern winters?

That question appears to be one of the main considerations that will face about 5,000 of the refugees as they ponder the possibilities of settling in Canada.

Two French government officials already have toured every province but Newfoundland to examine prospects and, in a report they are about to make to their government, are expected to express enthusiasm.

While the Canadian climate—particularly the frigid winters of the main French-speaking parts of Canada—is to be noted, the report will be full in its praise of agricultural possibilities.

According to French embassy officials, the two government officers were "quite optimistic," and believe most provinces hold settlement opportunities for the refugee farmers.

Problem of Climate

French spokesmen concede the climatic differences would "take some getting used to," but they are confident this will not turn out to be a major problem.

"These people, after what they have been through in Algeria, are not going to be deterred by a bit of snow," says one official.

Most of the refugees lost their farm holdings to confiscation by the Algerian government following that North African nation's winning of independence from France; some received compensation, say French embassy officials, but not many.

The majority of the refugees were born in Algeria, the descendants of French settlers.

"A good many refugees from Algeria have found new pursuits in France," French spokesmen state. "But this group of farmers has had difficulty resuming farming in France—France just doesn't have any farmland left."

"The result is that for the first time in France's history the French government is sponsoring emigration. We don't want to lose them, but there isn't much else we can do. They are good people. They were not mixed up in the wild stuff, so Canadians needn't worry that they would be trouble-makers. They are peaceful farmers."

To the approximately 1,000 farm families involved (for a total of about 5,000 men, women and children), the French government is offering a $6,000 grant per family, including a living allowance of some $1,200 per family for the first year.

Require Aid

Those families which meet Canadian immigration regulations, and obtain entry will be seeking aid from the Canadian Farm Credit Corporation, which offers loans of up to $20,000 for farm purchases.

Although all provinces but Newfoundland (its farm prospects are not considered good) hold interest centres for refugee farmers, main interest centres on Quebec and French-speaking areas of the Maritimes and Manitoba.

French officials say their studies indicate there might also be interest in soft fruit-growing parts of the B.C. interior because techniques for the growing of apricots, peaches, pears and apples "should not be too different" from those for growing of citrus fruits in Algeria.

The main agricultural products of Algeria, however, do not differ materially from those of Canada: they are wheat, barley, oats, corn, potatoes, artichokes, flax and tobacco, along with a substantial livestock output.

The initial study of Canadian agricultural prospects was made in January by Jacques Toutain, director of financial services for the French refugee ministry, and Robert Baudouy, a French foreign service counsellor.

Their work will be followed in March or April by a more thorough inquiry by a group of agricultural experts from France, some of them delegated by the farmers who look to Canada for a new home.

Expected By Mid-Summer

After this group reports back, the farmers will decide if and when they want to make the big move. French embassy officials fully expect the first group of the refugee families to arrive in Canada by mid-summer. They are unable so far to estimate just how many might come.

Meanwhile, the Canadian government departments involved—immigration and agriculture—are viewing the proposed migration with interest.

They have given French officials full co-operation in their studies, but are even less certain than the French about what the outcome might be.

"It appears the scheme will be a rather long-term business," says one Canadian official who met Toutain and Baudouy. "To begin with it might be a small pilot group, with the possibility of larger numbers coming dependent upon the success of the pilot group."

INSIDE POLITICS

With Douglas Fisher, M.P.

Toronto Telegram News Service

Both politicians and columnists I have talked to about mail agree a person is more likely to write if he is enthused by what you have said or written than if he is angered or in sharp disagreement. That is why it is unrealistic for a politician to pin his hopes on the ratio of mail pro and con that he receives on an issue. For example, John Diefenbaker received a huge mail as prime minister. Because it was overwhelmingly favorable, he tended to feel the little people were with him.

This has been prelude to a description and some selections of the mail that flowed in after my column that was critical of the Royal Canadian Legion and the promotion of the Red Ensign as Canada's flag. It got the largest number of letters ever on a single matter. The quality was exceptional and a much larger ratio than normal (10 to 1 rather than 5 to 1) approved my argument for a distinctive Canadian flag.

An interesting characteristic of the mail was the number and bite of the war veterans who share my criticism of the Legion as being directed at the "old officer" and "Old Sod." Perhaps the biggest surprise was the flood of mail from British Columbia. A New Democrat colleague of mine, Herbert Herdridge (Kootenay West), has been indoctrinating me for six years on the British-loving, royalty-admiring, Union-Jack-and-Red-Ensign-devoted nature of the folk in his province. I heard from that type, of course. My column had concluded: "What do you think?" A column clipped came in from Victoria with this sentence circled and the comment: "That you would have one hell of a time trying to get elected in British Columbia." Signed "Ex-Gunner," then Sgt., then Sgt. Major, RCA, Ypres, Passchendaele, Vimy, etc. PS—And I didn't earn those stripes sitting around in some HQ.

Another Victorian added the threat that chills (or is it supposed to chill) politicians: "We intend supporting the Red Ensign with our ballots and withdrawing support from those who oppose our policy." A Mr. Spencer from Magrath, Alta., tore every aspect of my column apart in a masterly way, once you grant him his premise that we and the world owe most of the good things we have to the British. After outlining the spread of the British Empire and the English language he wrote:

Too Many Mr. Fishers?

"Unfortunately we have too many Mr. Fishers. They are decidedly unwilling to do anything with the Commonwealth. They have never grown up. They call us old-fashioned, clinging to the past, and act like children with a pile of blocks, unwilling to do anything but tear down. They claim the 'old flag' belongs to the time when they had chubby hands; their minds have not progressed and, like the teen-ager, find anything more agreeable than their own parents. They have not matured."

Mr. R. B. Hale of Ottawa has the analytical approach: "A flag is not like a trademark. It emerges spontaneously as a rallying point of some conviction passionately held. Only conviction gives meaning to a flag. Much of the discussion about a new flag seems based on nothing more convincing than a desire to be different... so silly is the search for the different. But it is an understandable adolescent phase. When I was 16 I hated my stolid Anglo-Saxon name and dreamed of changing it to something noble and Norman. Fortunately I grew up and realized that however noble the name I assumed I myself would still be stolidly Saxon."

Many of the critics doubt I had been in the services and some of the First World War veterans thought we must have been a bit odd in the second do. If we didn't have regimental colors, the Red Ensign, and the Union Jack flying. It is obvious from a number of letters written by badly wounded veterans, or from widows and mothers of men who were killed in the war that the tradition of the Union Jack, the Red Ensign and the British connection is much more vital and emotional for them than it is with many veterans like myself for whom the war is now a rather detached and faded part of the personal past.

Mr. J. Davy of Toronto led me a merry, slashing dance in a letter that fastened on my socialist label. For example: "You cannot mock at the ideals and traditions of a people and at the same time try to stuff Russian, Jewish and French-Canadian ideals and patriotism down their throats. It may be good Marxist doctrine, but good sense at least, as well as votes, is against it. The NDP wants votes, not a bitter minority to seize power by force. The Red Ensign has been Canada's flag since Confederation whenever a distinctive flag was needed, and by law outside the country since 1924 for official government use. In this it has both tradition and custom behind it... it may be some day that you will lose a close election and wonder why?"

Irony of the Argument

A number of writers pointed out the irony of the argument that the Red Ensign "is" the Canadian flag. If it is, Mackenzie King is responsible. The wryness of this is evident in that many of the critical letters refer to him disparagingly. He was never a leader to the very ones who now exalt the Red Ensign.

One of the heartening letters came from M. Kenny, a life member of the Royal Canadian Legion. He tried to change the attitude of the Legion "in vain. During most of the years I have been opposed to many of the Legion views, particularly their views regarding the flag. For years, until 1958, the Royal Canadian Legion favored the Union Jack and then when they learned Canada could not accept the Union Jack, they discovered the Red Ensign. Now the latter is 'the grand old flag.' Keep it flying. This is a strange stand. The Red Ensign was flying since 1892 and the Legion was totally unaware of its existence. This is a difficult situation to explain."

Mr. Kenny concluded: "I am convinced many Legion members share my views. It may also be true that 85 per cent of veterans refuse to join the Legion because of the Legion's strong British leanings and, at times, what appears to be an anti-Canadian policy."

A Mr. W. R. Ellis of Pointe Claire, Que., sent me a brilliant letter, one I hope is put on the House of Commons record some day when we finally get the move for a distinctive Canadian flag. He concluded his argument vigorously (and I feel just as vigorous after the strength of supporting mail): "Why in God's name, can we not have a Canadian flag? Why must it be a patchwork of European flags?"

DE GAULLE STARTS STAMPEDE

U.S. Being Pushed Out on Limb in Asia

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press News Analyst

The simmering Asian pot is coming to a boil, and U.S. policy is in danger of a scalding. American policy difficulties in Asia are mounting. Now that President de Gaulle of France has recognized Red China, a competitive stampede for a promising future market may one day leave Washington out on a long limb.

In Western Europe people are examining questions like these:

—Can the United States hope to prevent Red China from bursting out of its isolation when there is an obvious itch to get in on the ground floor of China's potential market? —Will the United States, instead, find itself isolated in its effort to sustain the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa as the only legal government of China?

—Will the United States get hopelessly bogged down in Viet Nam in a war which seemingly cannot be won by present methods? Would a vastly increased U.S. military effort against the Communists raise a threat of an Asian conflagration? If the United States does not step up its effort, can it avoid eventually having the South Viet Nam question reach a conference table?

There is eagerness in sectors of West Germany and Japan to follow de Gaulle's lead on Red China. If they do, the American thumb will just about have been pushed out of the dice.

The Japanese traders want to be in there before West Europeans sew up its potential.

West German businessmen claim the idea of avoiding nations which recognize Communist East Germany no longer holds water. West Germany already is opening trade missions in Communist European nations, and German businessmen say China is a traditional German market in which they have as much right as businessmen of any NATO nation.

De Gaulle's recognition of Red China has provided both excuse and impulse for other nations to climb on the bandwagon. West Europeans argue that as nation after nation falls into line, the United States more and more faces the prospect of having Nationalist China become an empty shell.

De Gaulle's initiative also tends to tie the question of Red China's prestige to the civil war in South Viet Nam and, in addition, to the whole question of U.S. policies in Asia.

In Communist North Viet Nam, its regime more or less the creature of Peking, there has been a sudden rash of propaganda favoring the de Gaulle idea of neutralization. But this means neutralization for South Viet Nam. The Communists intend to keep what they have.

The Hanoi Communists appear to be happy over the picture of a U.S. dilemma and are saying that Washington must make up its mind whether to withdraw its military aid from South Viet Nam or step up the war, bringing it to North Viet Nam territory. And it adds that if the United States decides upon the latter, "they would have to cope not only with North Viet Nam, but also with China or eventually the whole socialist (Communist) camp as a whole."

This line is for the consumption of Southeast Asia. It poses the threat of all Asia embroiled in war because of Viet Nam, and even the possibility of a global conflict. Much of Southeast Asia already is nervous enough to mind its manners toward Red China and think prudently about the possibilities.

HOME GARDEN

'Raised' Garden Grows Early

The winter diet of city and the diet and the home garden that produces them has greater value than a surplus-producing plot when local crops are readily available. Early vegetables require an early, warm soil, and the coldest part of any soil is the water it contains. Drain off the water and the soil warms rapidly. Our forefathers resorted to many dodges to obtain this end, notably the construction of raised beds.

These were obtained by marking out an area of suitable size, digging a trench around it 18 inches wide and nine inches deep, throwing the soil into the centre. To obtain the greatest benefit from the spring sun rays the surface was finished so that the north edge was six inches higher than the south, giving a gentle slope from north to south.

A building or fence to the north was considered ideal, or sods were piled around the entire plot, to make a windbreak six to nine inches high. Brush or conifer boughs, thrust into the soil served the same purpose, and were used on top of the seedlings when frost threatened.

Carrots, onions, lettuce, radish, spinach, broad beans and peas were sown as soon as the soil could be worked into a fine friable condition.

Such methods are still of value in the home garden, and are being used by those who rate the vegetable plot as the most valuable part of the garden.

We also sell other makes.

Mainly, our dealers are in business to sell new Volkswagens. (So far, they've sold 250,000.)

But all makes of cars are traded in for VWs, so they find themselves with all types of used cars on their hands.

The bad ones are shipped off to a last resting place. (Our dealers are sour on lemons.)

The really good cars they renovate, rehabilitate and resell. They go over the car from front to back, from top to bottom.

Then, when a used car is in almost new car condition, they put a Verified Warranty sticker on the windshield.

And fill out a guarantee in writing.

Why do our dealers go to all this trouble to sell a five-year-old Volkswagen or Ford or Chev?

Some day you'll be in the market for a new car. We want it to be a Volkswagen.

And even if you don't want a used car this week, why not visit your Volkswagen dealer anyway. It could be worth the trip just to hear him rave about a Valiant. Or a Rambler. Or any of those strange cars with the engine in the front.

Theatre Bombing Kills Americans

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese police held a wounded ricksha driver today as a prime suspect in the bombing of a U.S. movie theatre.

Three Americans were killed and 51 Americans—including women and children—were wounded Sunday in the latest anti-American violence in Saigon. Nine Vietnamese also were injured.

One of the dead was a military policeman who was shot while standing guard outside the theatre. Another was a marine corps captain crushed under falling debris as he ran inside to warn the theatre's 500 patrons.

The body of the third American was so badly mangled identification was delayed.

The U.S. command in South Viet Nam ordered security measures tightened to protect American personnel in the capital from terrorism by the Communist Viet Cong. On Feb. 9, two bombs exploded under the bleachers of a softball field near Saigon Airport, killing two U.S. men and injuring 23 other Americans.

Police declined to discuss the ricksha boy's suspected role in the bombing.

ently were the work of a highly skilled terrorist team.

Witnesses saw at least two terrorists. They said one shot the military policeman at close range. Another hurried into the theatre with a canvas satchel. A third man—or woman—also may have been involved.

A U.S. military spokesman said the lone Vietnamese civil policeman on duty outside the theatre was seen pedalling away on a bicycle shortly before the attack.

The MP was killed by a single bullet through the neck. At least three shots were heard, however, indicating the soldier may have got off some shots.

The movie house was rocked by two terrorist bombs placed against a wall last Sept. 21, but there were no American casualties. The theatre is on one of the most heavily guarded streets in Saigon, and only persons who show U.S. defence department identification cards are allowed in it.

The audience included U.S. servicemen, civilian officials and American dependents. Army Maj. William Koch, a patron, said most of the audience ducked under seats or hurried to the front when the marine captain and an usher shouted their warnings.

The warning probably prevented even more casualties.

Seven Americans remained in hospital—six servicemen and a female military employee. Five American children were treated and released. None was badly injured.

The nine Vietnamese who were injured were outside the building.

WILLY BRANDT

Brandt Urges Negotiations Over Wall

BAD GOESBERG (AP)—Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin took over the leadership of West Germany's opposition Socialist party Sunday with a plea for tough, patient negotiations to ease the situation on the Communist wall.

Brandt had an appointment today with his chief political opponent, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, to see what can be done.

By decision of a special party convention that ended Sunday, Brandt, 50, will be Erhard's rival for the chancellorship in the 1965 election. Erhard leads the Christian Democratic party.

Brandt hailed the agreement with the Communists that enabled West Berliners to visit their relatives in East Berlin during the Christmas holidays, for the first time since the Communists built the wall in 1961.

There has been criticism of the Christmas agreement because it allowed Communist officials to come into West Berlin to issue passes. Many Christian Democrats fear this has strengthened the Communist position.

Robarts Wrecking Pension Ontario Unionists Charge

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (UPI)—The Ontario Federation of Labour (OFL) came out charging today that Premier John Robarts is involved in "a transparent attempt to sabotage the Canada pension plan".

Douglas Hamilton, OFL secretary-treasurer, said in a prepared statement Sunday that Robarts' most recent criticism of the federal contributory scheme only "added to existing confusion".

In a letter to Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, Robarts said Ontario is convinced the federal plan would conflict with existing pension programs. Robarts also said Ottawa had failed to indicate how private pensions would be integrated with the federal scheme.

Hamilton said "those who insist on talking about integration of pension schemes are either themselves misinformed or have deliberately set out to misinform the people". Pearson had already made it abundantly clear that the terms of the federal scheme would not require adjustments of private pension plans, Hamilton added.

"There could be no justification in tampering with benefits of union negotiated pension plans even if the Canada pension plan had not already been cut back drastically to appease the insurance industry," he said.

"The people of Ontario," said Hamilton, "expect constructive

Airline Strikes Ended Quickly

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Striking clerks and National Airlines signed an agreement Sunday ending a walkout which grounded the sixth largest U.S. airline at the height of the Florida tourist season.

National immediately began recalling 4,500 employees furloughed after 1,800 members of the Air Lines Employees' Association walked out at 12:01 a.m. Saturday.

SYDNEY (AP)—Pilots of the Australian airline Qantas ended a three-day strike at midnight Sunday night with their claims for increased time off still unsettled.

suggestions and not a rejection of the federal plan on the basis of arguments concocted by the insurance industry and other private enterprise opponents of social legislation."

Hamilton suggested that the federal plan could assist those already retired by providing some immediate past service benefits.

Hamilton said this could be done by reducing the initial contribution rate by half and raising a comparable amount through taxation.

The build-up of a two-and-a-half-billion-dollar surplus during the scheme's first 10 years is unnecessary, he said.

RABBI:

'Gospels Foster Anti-Semites'

TORONTO (CP)—Christian gospels do much to encourage anti-Semitism, Rabbi Abraham Feinberg said here Sunday.

And the rabbi-emeritus of Holy Blossom Temple told a Unitarian congregation that Jews "look to a revitalized Vatican to end an ancient wrong."

Last year a pronouncement was placed before the Ecumenical Council denying that Jews, because of the role some of their ancestors played in the crucifixion of Jesus Christ, are "cursed forever." But Rabbi Feinberg said the declaration was later "whisked off the agenda."

"But we should not feel keen disappointment. The history of a massive, monolithic institution like the Vatican should have warned us against lofty expectations," Rabbi Feinberg said.

"The Catholic Church, in the realm of doctrine, moves like a glacier. . . . A closed, static, medieval organization cannot thrive in our open, dynamic, modern world."

But the rabbi said no real doctrinal change is needed. The council should discourage "the explosive and destructive anti-Semitism bred into countless generations of Christian children by the gory and graphic narrative of Christ's murder by his own people." He said Christ was himself a Jew, "from first to last."

"Christendom . . . must confront a dreadful paradox; anti-Semitism has its origin in that same Christianity whose soil it corrupts . . . the very gospels, when given certain selective emphasis and sinister interpretations, are shot through with it, and the Easter Passion, which will soon be rehearsed and glorified in every church, renews the evil power."

Text of Rabbi Feinberg's sermon was given to the press before delivery.

Churchgoers Take Drinks, WCTU Says

About 60 per cent of Canada's churchgoers take alcoholic drinks, an official of the Women's Christian Temperance Union said here Sunday.

"Even if they are very moderate drinkers, they are lending their patronage to a traffic which is threatening the very roots of our society today," Mrs. W. S. Watson, national field secretary of the WCTU, told the congregation of Metropolitan United Church.

She believed churchgoers should be abstainers if only for the sake of others.

"We are alive to the dangers of drug addiction but not to the growing menace of alcohol, which is no less ruinous," she said.

Mrs. Watson said Canada has about 3,400 drug addicts compared with some 300,000 problem drinkers.

The United States, she declared, has more than 5,000,000 known alcoholics and about 3,000,000 problem drinkers.

If You're TIRED ALL THE TIME

Now and then everybody gets a "tired-out" feeling, and may be bothered by backaches. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary condition caused by urinary irritation or bladder discomfort. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help stimulate the kidneys to relieve this condition which may often cause backache and tired feeling. Then you feel better, rest better, work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now. Look for the blue box with the red hat at all drug counters. You can depend on Dodd's.

One Drowns, 5 Escape As Fish Boat Sinks

ISLAND DIGEST

GRAND OLD MAN of Salt Spring Island, Dr. W. T. Lockhart, celebrated his 96th birthday Saturday. Hale and hearty, with good eyesight and healthy appetite, the doctor drives his own car, plays golf and takes long walks when weather permits. He is an avid reader and keen cribbage player, and regularly attends church. Born in Chester, England, Dr. Lockhart has lived in Canada since boyhood, arriving on Salt Spring 16 years ago after retiring from medical practice in Vancouver.

TOFINO (CP) — Five men clung to the bow of the sinking fishboat White Star and listened helplessly to the screams of 21-year-old Larry Paul, trapped in a forward cabin.

The 35-foot boat sank Friday night within 25 yards of the wharf at Ahousat, on Flores Island, 16 miles northwest of here, and the five, swam to shore—unable to save Paul.

The White Star reportedly developed engine trouble as it entered the harbor and struck a reef.

Dennis Singleton, owner of a hotel at Tofino, said the men were en route home for the weekend from their jobs in Tofino logging camps.

"Paul was asleep on a bunk in the forward part of the boat," he said. "The others apparently didn't realize he was there, because he had been asleep through the whole trip."

'CHOP A HOLE'
Singleton said Paul's last words were: "Chop a hole in the boat and get me out."

A rope was attached to the vessel about 20 minutes after the sinking and it was pulled to shore where Paul's body was recovered.

Singleton said Paul could have forced the cabin door open and swum to safety, but he apparently panicked.

TOTEM POLE STOLEN

KANAIMO (CP) — A six-foot totem pole was stolen overnight from in front of the office of the Mayo Lumber Company here.

Sunken U.S. Crab Troller To Be Raised

GALIANO (CP) — Operations were to start today to salvage the Alaska-based crab troller Lark I that foundered Friday near Active Pass.

Seattle insurance adjusters decided Saturday to raise the 50-foot vessel and have her towed to Montague Harbor on Galiano Island.

Captain Kenneth Davis and crew member Karl Anderson were sailing north from Seattle after preparing the boat for the crab season when they hit a deadhead in the water.

"They were able to manoeuvre the boat close to shore before it sank, resting on a pinnacle of rock."

Ferry Cy Peck Takes Over Run

FULFORD—B.C. Ferries Cy Peck has taken over the Vesuvius-Crofton run while the Mv. George Pearson is in drydock for an overhaul.

The Cy Peck will also take over the schedule of the Pender Queen when that vessel goes in for overhaul later this year.

HARD HATS

"Watchin' what they pack in their back pocket can often help ya pick lead hands."

LADYSMITH GETS PLAN

LADYSMITH — Planners in the department of municipal affairs are working on a zoning and community plan for Ladysmith.

In charge of the project are B. S. Jawanda and G. Lauranson, both professional town planners.

Ladysmith made application for the service after its boundaries were extended.

Cab-Theft Sentence Thursday

DUNCAN — A young man who held up a taxi operator at gunpoint will appear in police court Thursday for sentence on charges of breaking and entering, theft and robbery with an offensive weapon.

T. R. Reid, 20, of Vancouver, was remanded for sentence in court Saturday after pleading guilty to the charges. He is accused of breaking into Williams Sporting Goods store.

Police arrested Reid early Saturday, shortly after he had pulled an air pistol and ordered taxi driver Danny Schutte of Duncan to leave his cab at Upland Avenue and Gibbins Road.

The accused sped from the scene with the taxi and Mr. Schutte ran to a house and notified police. The car was finally stopped by Ladysmith police.

Hot Alberni Goes Two Up

ALBERNI — Alberni Athletics took a two-game lead in the B.C. men's senior "A" basketball final Sunday with a 131-100 victory over Vancouver Grocers in one of the best games ever seen here. Alberni took the first game Saturday, 96-76.

Athletics, who now head for Vancouver for their third and fourth games of the best-of-seven series next weekend, played almost flawless basketball Sunday.

Vancouver opened quickly, taking a nine-point lead early in the game before Alberni caught fire. Athletics scored 30 points in the final 10 minutes of the first half and were almost unbeatable.

Sig Kuehn and Don Kregg led Athletics with fine inside play and outside shooting. Kregg and Kuehn each scored 26 points.

CANDLISH GETS 32
High man of the game was Hunter Candlish of Vancouver with 32 points. John Kootnekoff added 29.

Three Vancouver players fouled out in the final quarter—

Mike Lemon, Kootnekoff and Allan Galway.

In Saturday's contest Athletics overcame a short-lived Grocer lead midway through the first quarter and then never looked back.

SLOPPY AFFAIR
The close-checking game developed into a rather sloppy affair with both teams picking up about half of the 63 personal fouls.

Athletics led 38-30 at the half. In the second half, Grocers checked from basket to basket but could not stop the accurate outside shooting and breakaway play of the Island club.

Kootnekoff led all scorers with 25 points for the Vancouver team, while Kuehn and Larry Lehtonen each got 20 for the Athletics.

Dockers Grab Tenpin Crown

Three little pins... That was all that separated Dockers and Lucky Lager No. 1 from first money in the team event of the Victoria Women's Bowling Association annual tenpin handicap tournament at Aurora Lanes.

Dockers won it—2,707 gross to 2,704. The winners rolled a modest 2,191 scratch, added a lusty 516 handicap. Lagers hit 2,329 scratch, had a 375 bonus.

Page the Cleaner with high scratch 2,472 and only 198 pins handicap, finished third with 2,670. Five pins back was Club Sirocco, 2,353-312-2,665.

For the winning Dockers, individual totals were: Bea Lundgren, 473; Sia Reid, 354; Dot Wickens, 427; Gerlie Schreier, 443; and Noreen Campbell, 494. In all-events scratch competition, Dot Bennett took an early lead with a 565 series including a fabulous 245 single. Behind her are Helen Young, 537 (205); Vivian Morgan, 536 (220); Anne Goodman, 525 (220); Babe Ross, 519; Ollie Rutledge, 517; Louanne Elliott, 514; Joan Luscombe, 511; Gladys Cairne, 506; Flora Kirker, 505; Mo King, 502; and Mary Dyke, 501.

Singles and doubles will be rolled next weekend.

'He Would Have Killed You'—Ref

MANILA (AP)—Carlos Ortiz defended his world lightweight title by stopping Flash Elorde of the Philippines on a 14th round technical knock-out Saturday night, an ending that came as a surprise to the 60,000 fans at the outdoor Rizal stadium.

When referee James Wilson of Los Angeles raised Ortiz's hand at 1:44 of the 14th round without either fighter having been down, Elorde quickly turned to the official to ask why.

"I had to stop the fight or he would have killed you," said Wilson.

Wilson left the ring before reporters could check his scorecard. He had remarked that Ortiz was leading all the way. Two official cards had it close in points. Judge Alfredo Quizon of Manila had Ortiz leading 61-59 and judge Nat Fleisher of New York, editor-publisher of Ring magazine, had Ortiz out from 62-58.

The Puerto-Rican born New Yorker, who won the title from Joe Brown, April 23, 1962, had battered Elorde with hard lefts and rights against the ropes just before the referee stopped it.

Junior Cougars Reach End of Playoff Trail

NEW WESTMINSTER — New Westminster Royals defeated Victoria Cougars 10-7 Sunday to win the Pacific Coast Junior Hockey League championship and the right to meet the northern champion in two weeks.

Royals came from behind a 4-1 first-period deficit to win the best-of-five series in straight games.

The winners of the North New Westminster series will meet the winner of an Okanagan-Kootenay series for the B.C. championship.

Smithers Totems defeated Burns Lake Braves during the weekend to win the Northwest Interior championship. They will meet Vanderhoof of the Cariboo League next weekend, other one for the losers.

Cougars, with their backs to the wall, completely outplayed New Westminster in the first period. But New Westminster scored five in the second and four in the third to win going away.

Brothers John and Paul Shmyr were big guns for New Westminster. John got five assists and his brother scored two goals. Don Prowal and Mike Paquin also scored twice for the winners while Frank Ketter, Barry McLean, Gary Kulchieski and Leroy Mowrey got singles.

The Victoria line of Don Wilkeson, Paul Blom and Les Johnson scored two goals each while Glen Robertson got the other one for the losers.

CRONIN CALLS PARLEY

Finley's Ouster Near?

BOSTON (AP)—American League president Joseph E. Cronin Sunday called a meeting of team owners for next Friday to act on the matter of Kansas City Athletics owner Charles O. Finley.

Cronin's statement also hinted that Finley's ouster from the league might be considered at a later date.

His statement said: "The purpose of the meeting will be for the league members to consider negotiations between Charles O. Finley and Co. Inc., and Kansas City for a lease of the Kansas City Stadium—and to determine, after a review of such negotiations, whether a further meet-

UNITED BLANKS SEATTLE

Those Points Worth Stealing

By ERNIE FEDORUK

If somebody had whistled for the cops, the charge against Victoria United would be one of theft. They didn't deserve to win, so the two points pilfered by United Saturday turned out to be the biggest steal of the Pacific Coast Soccer League weekend.

With nary a cop in sight, United sped four points ahead of North Shore in the run for the league's fourth and final playoff spot. The Shores did their bit in amplifying the importance of United's victory (1-0 over Seattle Firefighters) by losing to Firefighters.

CLARKE CONNECTS

A goal by rookie wing Jimmy Clarke, only 30 seconds after the opening whistle, stood up for United Saturday. That was about the only time Victoria's favorites did anything right.

Adding more tarnish to United's performance was the fact that Seattle played the last 68 minutes with only 10 men. Already weakened by injuries, the Hungarians arrived with only 11 players.

They lost fullback Alex Lennox after 22 minutes with torn knee ligaments. Seattle, despite the handicap, carried the play to United most of the way. Only poor finish saved the Victorians.

At Vancouver, Lou Trischuk and Art Bennett counted the goals that gave Firemen its 2-1 victory over the fifth-place North Shore XI.

President's Job For Frank Dunn

Frank Dunn was moved into the president's chair at the annual meeting of the James Bay City Centre Little League.

Completing the directorate are vice-presidents Gord Duncan and Frank Schroeder, secretary, Mrs. A. J. Drinkwater; treasurer, Mrs. J. F. Dunn, John McKenzie, Mrs. C. W. A. Fuller, B. Soberg and L. R. Lowden.

UFL Welcomes Joliet Entry

MONTREAL (CP)—The United Football League Saturday voted unanimously to accept an application for a franchise from Joliet, Illinois, a city of 100,000, 40 miles from Chicago.

The new franchise brings to nine the number of teams in the minor pro circuit.

Schedule Favoring Hard-Pressed Habs

Hawks Keep Pace By Edging Bruins

(By the Canadian Press)
The Moose may be feeling the tension.

Elmer Vasko, the affable 210-pounder they call the Moose, pacific by nature, was throwing punches.

His Chicago Black Hawks clipped Boston Bruins 5-3 Sunday night, continuing their win-for-win duel with Montreal Canadiens for first place in the National Hockey League, but the Moose was stirred up.

He gets his share of penalties, but it's usually for hauling down one of those slippery little forwards rather than for fighting.

But there he was, in the thick of battle, trading blows with Orland Kurtenbach in a second-period donnybrook at Chicago.

HABS HAVE EDGE

Black Hawks and Canadiens emerged from the weekend games with 69 points each, but Canadiens have the schedule working for them now. They have 15 games left to play, Chicago only 13.

And, apart from the two-game edge, Montreal plays nine games at home and Chicago only four.

A breakdown of over-all play this season shows just how significant this facet is. In 166 games, apart from 29 ties, the visiting club has won only 43 times, losing the other 94 times.

A surprise twist in the statistics came in the weekend home-and-home set between Montreal and Detroit, each club losing on home ice.

LEAFS SPLIT

Detroit stopped Montreal 4-1 Saturday night and Montreal rebounded to a 5-2 win Sunday night. Chicago was shut out 4-0 by Toronto Maple Leafs in Toronto Saturday. In the other weekend game, New York Rangers defeated the erratic Maple Leafs 4-2 Sunday night in New York.

Black Hawks, led by a suddenly-potent Chico Maki, came from behind twice to nip Bruins in a game marked by a whopping 96-minute penalty imposition by referee Frank Udvari in the second period.

Stan Mikita, who seems to pop up every time there's trouble by contrast, and Aur Erickson were the other Chicago combatants in the Vasko-Kurtenbach dispute, squaring Continued on Page 11

SEEK 5TH BRIER

Richardsons At Old Stand

(By the Canadian Press)

Ernie Richardson and his Regina curling kin will make their fifth bid for the Canadian championship next month, and half the competition will be making at least their second bid to unseat him.

Six rinks in the 11-team round-robin bonspiel at Charlottetown, March 2-6, including the famed Richardson sharpshooters, are former champions of their provinces.

The Quebec rink skipped by Elmer Black of Montreal will be one of the youngest competitors—but they are no strangers to the Canadian curling scene. Black, 25, with Bill Ness, lead, and John Logan, third, were runners-up in the Canadian schoolboy championships in 1953. This season they'll have Oakley McEae playing second.

Richardson with his bro. Garnet, second, and cousin Arnold, third, and Wes, lead, last year won the Canadian title for an unprecedented fourth time, one better than Matt Baldwin of Edmonton and Ken Watson of Winnipeg.

Harold Mabey of Moncton, N.B., will be the only other skip at Charlottetown who has piloted his rink in more than one previous Canadian championship. The New Brunswick rink master, who prefers to call the shots but allows his son Hap to throw the last two rocks, represented New Brunswick in 1960 and again in 1962.

REPEAT RIDES

Two rinks, skipped by Ian Baird of Kentville for Nova Scotia and Bob Mann of Hanover for Southern Ontario, are representing their provinces for the second consecutive year.

Art Burke of Charlottetown, 1962, Prince Edward Island title, and Jack Polylank of Kirkland Lake, 1961 northern Ontario winner, make up the six repeat competitors in the Charlottetown matches to decide a Canadian representative in the world championships at Calgary later this month.

The other four provinces will be represented by rinks skipped by Dave Pedley of St. John's for Newfoundland, Ron Northcott of Calgary for Alberta, Bruce Hudson of Winnipeg for Manitoba and Lyle Dagg of Vancouver for British Columbia.

The 11 rinks will play 11 games each in the round-robin bonspiel.

HERE'S LINEUP

The 11 rinks, listing skip, third, second and lead in that order are:
ST. JOHN'S—Dave Pedley, John St. John, George Giammus, Bill O'Reilly.
NEWFOUNDLAND—Ron Northcott, John St. John, George Giammus, Bill O'Reilly.
ALBERTA—Ron Northcott, John St. John, George Giammus, Bill O'Reilly.
MANITOBA—Bruce Hudson, Harvey Mazzone, Ken Little, Harry Martel.
ONTARIO—Bob Mann, Ken Buchanan, Keith Munro, Rich Palmer.
QUEBEC—Elmer Black, John Logan, Bill Ness, John Logan.
BRITISH COLUMBIA—Lyle Dagg, Leo Hebert, Fred Britton, Barry Naimark.

Shuttle Queen Penny Glistens Like Gold

Fourteen-year-old Penny Brown was the big winner in the Victoria City Junior Badminton championships, which concluded Sunday at Victoria Racquet Club courts.

Combining a steady all-round game with fine court tactics, exceptionally good drop shots and an effective net game, Penny looked a winner all the way as she defeated tennis ace Theodora Booker, 11-0, 11-3 to annex the girls-under-15 singles, then defeated Pat Knott also of the Brentwood club, 11-6, 12-9 to win the girls-under-17 singles.

She won her third title, combining with Judy Sluggett of Brentwood to take the girls-under-15 doubles from Victoria Racquet Club champs Leslie Woodland and Wendy Aaronson, 15-11, 15-9.

Pat Knott became a double champ, winning the girls-under-19 singles 11-5, 11-6 from Victoria Racquet Club titlist Carol Gibson, then capturing the under-19 doubles with Leslie Sluggett, defeating Carol Gibson and Jackie Burling of the Racquet Club, 11-15, 15-9, 15-12 in one of the best matches of the entire tournament.

Joe Saisell defeated Gerry Shackelford, 15-6, 15-4 in an all-Duncan final to win the boys-under-17 singles. The two Duncan boys took the under-17 doubles with a close 18-17, 15-9 win over Don Sluggett and Richard O'Neill of the Brentwood Club.

Fifteen-year-old Bob McMynn of the Oak Bay Junior High team won two titles, defeating Pat Sluggett of the Racquet Club, 15-5, 15-0 to win the boys-under-15 singles, then with partner John Ford winning the under-15 doubles from teenage game player Pat Skiffins, 15-10, 15-11.

Girls under 13 singles—Lois Doel winner by default.
Girls under 15 singles—Penny Brown (Brentwood) defeated Two Books (Oak Bay) 21-6, 21-3.

"Remember when he first came out to practice how we all howled at his size?"

LISTON NOW 7-1 FAVORITE . . .

Nilon Has Cautious Approach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Miami Beach Boxing Commission stepped into the weight-in controversy between the managers of Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay Sunday.

Jack Nilon, Liston's adviser, said Sonny "will not meet Cassius Clay in person until they enter the ring, and that's final."

Nilon said he had checked with his lawyer and "there is nothing that says we have to weigh in together."

Bill Macdonald and Chris Dundee, co-promoters of the Feb. 25 heavyweight championship fight, turned the question over to the boxing commission.

Said Morris Klein, commission chairman: "I've never heard of having anything like this happen before and personally, I can't see the reason for changing the procedure now."

Klein said Nilon will appear before the commission meeting tonight and "at that time we will go over all the rules pertaining to the fight." He added Nilon would have an opportunity to present his side of the matter.

"I don't want to blow the fight, do you?" Nilon said. "Clay's liable to arouse Sonny and they may have the fight before we can get them into the ring."

Liston was pegged a 7-1 favorite by Las Vegas bookmakers. Odds in favor of the champion have risen steadily. A week ago he was listed a 6-1 favorite.

Symphony Airs Further Growth

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

In the month since the last occasion of hearing Victoria Symphony Orchestra in concert, there has been still further and unquestionable progress.

This was made apparent Sunday afternoon when the first of three all-orchestral programs was performed at the Royal Theatre.

The concert was repeated Sunday night at Sidney and will be heard again tonight at the Royal.

With Otto-Werner Mueller conducting, the concert opened with the strings playing Handel's Concerto Grosso in D, Op. 6, No. 5, followed by Smetana's The Moldau and the Frank D Minor Symphony.

STRING SECTION

The Handel work, featuring concertmaster Arthur Polson and principal of seconds, Elfreda Sewell, with first cellist Edward Gaskill as soloists, revealed striking growth in the string section.

Precision, intonation, co-ordination, attack and phrasing—all these technical aspects appear heightened while Mr. Mueller's direction is responsible for a spirited, finely shaped fendering that has all the characteristic impetus of the Handel concert.

It is satisfying to note the increased responsiveness of the orchestra as a whole.

SMALL, SILVERY

The Moldau, for instance, in its opening double flute passages, small and silvery in tone; in its sweeping, singing string melody and following turbulent episode, was admirably accomplished.

Mr. Mueller's control of the orchestral forces and the enhanced flexibility of all sections has resulted in an intensifying of color and a consequently richer interpretive ability.

This impression was underscored during many moments in the playing of the Frank Symphony, which is one of the most moving in symphony repertoire.

FRAGILITY

The second movement I found particularly enthralling for there is a spirituality, almost a fragility at times, in this music which could too easily be destroyed by a small degree of insensitivity on the part of the conductor.

But this is an interpretation that finds its way in beautiful balance to the very heart of the matter.

The famous passage for the complex English horn, said to be one of the most beautiful ever written for the instrument, is quite exquisitely performed in this instance by Robert Bergeson.

"Heads of Negroes" by Rubens.

Thieves Get Masterpiece

CONDUCTORS' SCHOOL HERE 'FIRST'

This city is to have an all-Canada "first" when the projected school of music gets under way this summer, according to an announcement Sunday afternoon by Symphony Society president Jack Barracough.

Arrangements have already been made to establish the first courses anywhere in Canada for student conductors, he told the Royal Theatre audience.

Courses will be under the direction of Otto-Werner Mueller, who, last year spent four months teaching a special conducting course in Russia at the Moscow Conservatory.

Armory Theft In Quebec

NORANDA, Que. (CP)—Police said Saturday they are holding three youths for questioning in an armory theft in this mining town 350 miles northwest of Montreal.

They were arrested at their homes, less than an hour after thieves broke into the armory of No. 3 Field Squadron, Royal Canadian Engineers, and stole a small quantity of weapons.

The stolen weapons were found in a snowbank near the armory.

BRUSSELS (AP)—A famous

Rubens painting—Heads of Negroes—valued at $1,000,000 was stolen during the weekend from the Brussels Museum of Ancient Art.

Museum conservator P. H. Roberts-Jones told reporters the painting was worth at least 50,000,000 Belgian francs ($1,000,000). But he said this figure would probably be greatly exceeded in the unlikely event the painting was put up for sale.

The thief or thieves entered the museum through a glass roof from a scaffolding on houses being built behind the museum. They climbed down a 20-foot rope ladder, took the painting and escaped by the same route.

The ladder was left behind and the painting's frame was left on the roof.

PAINTED BY MASTER

The painting, by the 17th-century Flemish master Peter Paul Rubens, measures 20 by 25 inches.

Roberts-Jones said there were two men on surveillance duty normally in the museum, but that one of them was off duty Sunday night.

Roberts-Jones said it was the first theft in the history of the Museum.

The stolen painting is well known in Belgium because it is reproduced on the back of the 500-franc ($10) bill.

RUSS SCIENTIST BELIEVES HE'S REAL

'Abominable Snowman' Has Pal

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Soviet scientist was reported today to have turned up evidence that the legendary "Abominable Snowman" of the Himalayas may really be a surviving Neanderthal Man.

In his theory, published by the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences, Prof. Boris Porshnev concluded: "The Neanderthals have not yet become extinct. The Neanderthals existed side by side with the modern human beings right through the development of the latter. They were like their shadow."

He said that unlike modern man, the Neanderthals did not develop "along the path of labor and so become men, forming a society, and developing verbal communication... they continued to develop as animals."

A review of Porshnev's scientific work was published in the latest issue of the English-language Moscow News. Porshnev's evidence includes a rigorous study of footprints of an alleged Snowman.

Funeral Today For Retired Bank Manager

Funeral services were to be held today at 1:30 p.m. in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, for Ontario-born bank manager Charles Franklin Drager, who died here Thursday.

Mr. Drager was born in Mitchell, Ontario, and was a former Toronto-Dominion bank manager.

He was a life member of Moose Jaw Lodge of Perfection, a life member of Rose Croix, Moose Jaw, and a member of Saltcoats Lodge No. 162, Saltcoats, Sask.

At the time of his death he was treasurer of St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, and a member of the men's guild.

He was also a former warden of the church.

Mr. Drager is survived by the widow Emilie Anne, at home, 2829 Foul Bay Road; a daughter, Mrs. Rea Anne Anderson, Prince George; a granddaughter, Lorie Anne Anderson, and a sister, Mrs. T. Coppin, Winnipeg, Man.

Five Lectures Set For Young Parents

A series of five lectures, aimed at parents of children between the ages of six and 12, will begin Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Margaret Jenkins School auditorium.

Topics will be "Physician Development of Children," "Creativity in Young Children," "Emotional Development of Children," "What the School Expects of the Parent" and "The Family as a Unit."

Registration fee is $1.50 per person. Registrations will be accepted at the door.

Trustee Speaks

School trustee Elizabeth Maunsell will speak on the school building program at a meeting of Victoria West P.T.A. Tuesday at 8 p.m.

TORONTO (CP)—If the Canadian Labour Congress continues its secret membership drive against Seafarers' International Union (Ind.), the trustees named by Parliament to safeguard Canada's maritime unions will take action, a trustee spokesman said Friday night.

Clayton Sinclair, information officer for the trustees, told The Star in a telephone interview from Montreal the trustees are disappointed at the CLC's attitude which he described as an intrusion of the welfare of maritime union members.

It is not the type of co-operation promised by CLC when the trustees first took over the unions, he said.

Mr. Sinclair would not say what action the trustees would take against CLC if the secret membership drive continued.

"We have asked the unions to maintain the status quo which existed prior to the CLC's membership drive because there are special circumstances existing at this moment into which I cannot go," he said.

He said both parties were aware of these "special" circumstances which "give special significance to the suggestion that they maintain the status quo," he said.

The trustees had no power to instruct the CLC to stop its activities which began this week when CLC and the Canadian Maritime Union organizers went to the east coast to feel out SIU soft spots, he said.

It has been the first clash between the CLC and SIU since the trusteeship was imposed last fall. SIU has the largest membership among crews on the Great Lakes.

Reunion All Set For Oaklands

All former pupils and teachers of Oaklands School have been invited to take part in the first 50-year reunion Tuesday at 8 o'clock in the auditorium.

Class pictures and old enrollment registers will be displayed for the upwards of 1,000 ex-associates of Oaklands expected to attend.

Arrangements are being undertaken by Parent-Teacher Association, whose president Archie Gillies will welcome visitors and introduce former teachers.

Special guests will be the widow of former principal R. H. McInnis, who was herself an original teacher at the school, and Mrs. C. B. McDonnell, another of the first teaching staff.

Refreshments will be served during the evening.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Hal March took a ski lesson at the Hotel Concord—and broke his right leg a few minutes later when he tried to zip down the ski slope alone.

It was the first day of his winter vacation... He'd just returned from filming a Hollywood picture, "Send Me No Flowers," with Doris Day... Hal, his wife Candy, and three of their children were out on the ski slope... All were doing fine but Daddy... He'd last been on skis three years before, and not very much then.

"He got himself all tangled up in his skis," Candy reported later. "He landed in Monticello Hospital—and he'll be on crutches for a couple of months."

The leg shouldn't interfere with a TV series he's due to start in July. His pal, Red Buttons, is meanwhile circulating the fallacious rumor that Hal "broke his leg in three places — Liberty, Monticello and Klamath Lake."

(Hal is moving his family to California in a few weeks — I wonder why.)

CBS claims Ed Sullivan's 58.8 Nielsen rating for N.Y. with his Beatles show was the highest ever recorded here (72.7% share of the audience)—and means that Ed was seen by 7,000,000 New Yorkers... Julie Andrews isn't doing any

Sinking Claims Life

TOFINO—One man was drowned Friday night when the fishing boat White Star sank close to shore 15 miles northwest of this west coast Vancouver Island community.

Another fishing boat later recovered the body of the man, Larry Paul.

The 37-foot White Star was returning to a reservation with a number of Indians who had been on a shopping trip to Tofino. They managed to swim the short distance to the boat's mooring at Matilda Creek.

nude scenes, or anything like that, but she's flattered that Paul Newman called her "the last of the really great broads" and wants that as her billing in "The Americanization of Emily..." A close chum of Frank Sinatra's says "he's retired from hoodlumism," and is so completely well-behaved now, he'll never again make headlines. Sounds like a long, dull century.

President Johnson's reviving the story of the little girl who wrote to God pleading for $100. The letter reached Washington where the postmaster, touched by the letter, sent the girl a $20 bill. She wrote to God saying, "Thank you, God, for the money, but next time, don't go through Washington. Those thieves took out 80%."

Audrey Meadows candidly tells friends she's peeved at claims from somebody in Jackie Gleason's camp that she wanted excessive $ to allow a film clip to be used on JG's anniversary show. Says all she wanted was a TV set, not even color, just band-w, and it wasn't forthcoming... Together at Sardi's: Billy Rose and Milton Berle, each of whom had been twice married to Joyce Mathews.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Singer Dorothy Loudon has a suite just below the Beatles' at the Plaza: "I don't know what they do up there—even their hair makes noise!" Nat (King) Cole took his entourage to dine—at a Times Square hotdog stand... Cary Grant, who flew to England to see his ailing mother, took along a cheesecake for her.

Shirley MacLaine's take on "What a Way to Go" is hefty 500Gs, plus 7½% of the gross... Director John Frankenheimer gave a party in Paris for the cast of "The Train," and told them in the French restaurant: "I'm sorry the best I can offer you is domestic champagne."

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 10-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia to Judy Tucker, age 10, of Wadesboro, N.C., for her question:

Where does the chamois live?

The chamois gave his name to the soft leathery rag we use for polishing jobs. At one time, the hide of the chamois was used to make so-called shammy rags. But the cute fellow nowadays is less plentiful. What's more, in the whole wide world, he is one of the hardest animals to catch.

The original chamois is a native of Europe and parts of Asia Minor. He is one of the goat-antelope animals and quite at home where the trees meet the snow, high up on the shoulders of lofty mountains. As a mountaineer, the chamois is a dazzling champion. He can trip up dizzy slopes and leap 20 feet across gaping ravines.

The reputation of the spry chamois spread around the world, and people of other lands wanted chamois of their own. This was not impossible. For Africa has a native animal with the qualities of the original chamois and so has Asia. It was easy to re-name these local acrobats.

Chamois Fast Climber

There are chamois of some kind in the Alps and the Apennines, in the Carpathians and ranges that sprawl over into Asia Minor, in the high Himalayas of Asia and the African mountains of Somaliland and Nigeria. Our Rocky Mountain goat is a goat-antelope and a cousin of the chamois of the Alps. He is 'frisky' enough to be called a chamois, but so far we have not awarded him this title.

The chamois of the Alps is a sturdy, goat-type animal

The klipspringer, alias the African chamois, springs and skids through the craggy uplands from Ethiopia to the Cape of Good Hope. He is a true antelope about 20 inches tall at shoulder level. When startled, the smallish fellow bounces along, straight up, like a rubber ball. After a dizzy leap, he can land with his dainty little feet bunched close together on a few square inches of rocky ledge.

The chamois of Asia is the goral of the Himalayas. This death-defying mountaineer is classed as a goat-antelope. He looks like a goat, but no true goat can perform his antelope-type acrobatics. The chamois, the klipspringer-chamois and the goral-chamois are all crag-dwellers quite at home in the tricky terrain 2,000 to 9,000 feet above sea level. The klipspringer-chamois of Africa is often adopted as a pet, and the little cutie loves to show off his sprightly antics. The chamois and the goral-chamois are shy and hard to find.

about four feet from nose to stumpy tail. He stands about 32 inches tall at shoulder level and tips the scales at 90 pounds. His 10-inch horns reach straight up and near the ends curve back and down like fishhooks. In the summer, the Alpine chamois grazes and gambols at the tree line and still higher into the craggy scrub regions above. His summer coat of coarse hair with its dense undercoat is the color of light, tawny taffy. In winter, when he descends below the timber line, his coat is black or chocolate brown.

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book globe to Steve Johnson, age 13, of Sioux City, Ia., for his question:

Is it true that the moon revolves around the earth?

Our changeable moon rises in the east, hops over the sky and sets in the west. So do the sun, the planets and a swarming host of stars. These heavenly bodies all appear to revolve around our planet, once every 24 hours. But the apparent motion of the heavenly parade is not what it seems to be. It is caused by the spinning earth. In 24 hours, the earth rotates on its axis, facing first one and then another view of the dazzling skies.

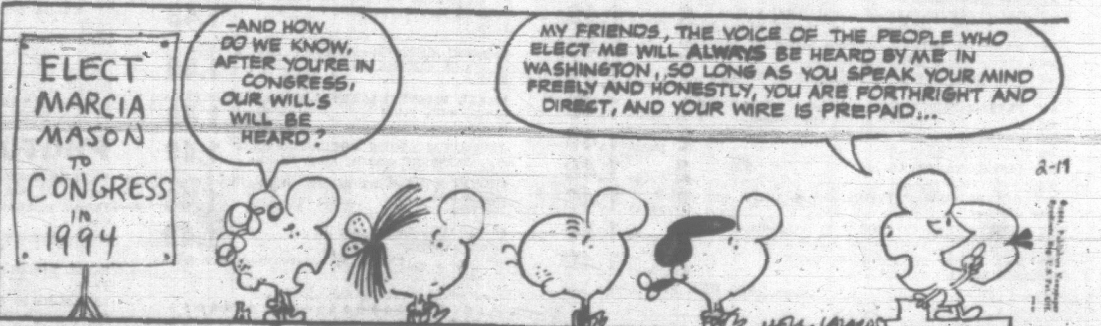

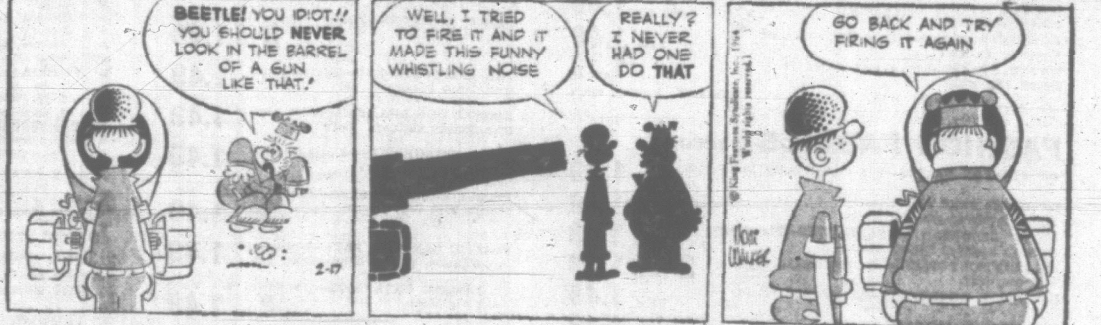

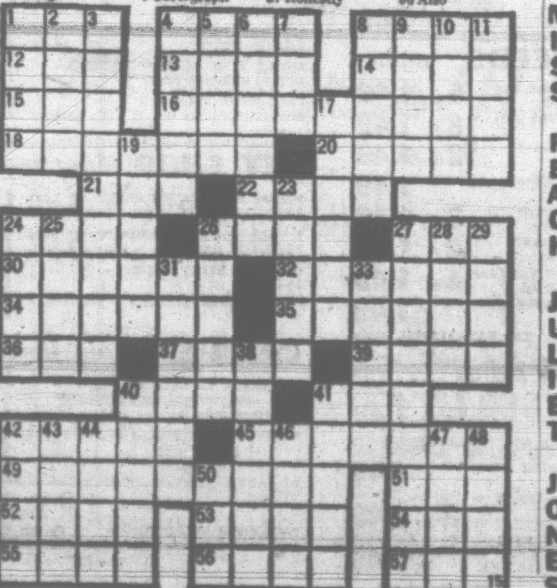

Of all the heavenly bodies, only one revolves around our planet earth. It is our captive satellite, the golden moon. But even in this, the apparent motion is not the true fact. The moon does not orbit the earth every 24 hours. It takes 27 earth days and almost eight hours to revolve once on its orbit around the earth. In the same time, it rotates once around its axis.

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1964—PAGE 17

Arthur Mayse

To pass time on a long drive a while ago, Win and I set about planning a weekend cabin. It was to rise, neat as a bug's ear, on some scrap of foreshore no more than 30 miles from home.

This hideaway would be very plain—just shake-roofed with bunk beds, stove, shelves, plank table and unpainted chairs. We would light it with candles, or if we decided to go fancy, hunt up a couple of coal-oil lamps. Some year, we might even get around to painting the chairs.

All this, you understand, was dream stuff pure and simple; no more than a pleasant diversion to ease the miles. Win knew, and so did I, that our beach cabin was unlikely to take shape outside our pooled imaginations.

That should have been that. The fancy had served its purpose. Unfortunately, we talked up so clear a picture of our haven (oars leaned to one side of the door, salmon rods at the other) that it remained with us when we joined our teenagers at dinner.

"We were driving along," I said, "and we got thinking it would be fun some year if we built a little beach cottage."

If Ron and Sue heard, they let no sign escape them.

"With a fireplace," Win supplemented. "We'd pick stones the right size and shape, and carry them up from the beach."

There had been no previous mention of this item, but come to think of it, a beachstone fireplace would be a worthy addition.

"Where?" Ron asked, tardily talking notice.

"At one end," I said.

"I mean where is this particular dream-shack going to be?"

"Not a shack," Win corrected him. I said, "What we had in mind was a small cottage." That sounded better than 'cabin,' and the inward picture expanded ever so slightly.

To the stone fireplace—we'd have to hire an expert for that—the word 'cottage' added patio and window boxes.

"That's nice," Sue said indulgently. "How many rooms in this one?"

"Driving along the wet highway with the wipers busy and the world shut out, we hadn't thought in terms of rooms.

Just a plain little box, remember, with bunk beds, and some kind of sliding curtain arrangement on rods and rings.

"Well," Win said, "it would be no trick at all, really, to compartment it off with plywood. I've been thinking, too, we might have electricity. Not right away, perhaps, but when we can get around to it."

Quite right. Lamp chimneys are fragile. They get soiled. Nor is reading easy by lamplight.

"You haven't told us about the well yet," Ron said, in the most amiable of tones, "and the gasoline pump. But if you're getting power in this one, it will be an electric pump, I guess."

"Couldn't we make it a lake instead of a beach?" Sue asked. "I like fresh water better for swimming." "It was a lake last time," Ron said. "At least, I think it was."

"A log cabin," Sue corrected. "Reached only by trail, with a creek going past it or through it or something."

It seemed to me that we had wandered rather from our beach house. I fetched us back to it.

"Naturally, we'd want a screened sleeping porch," I said.

"And since we're having water pumped in, I suppose we could have a heater and a proper bathroom," Win added. "Not for a while, of course. But some year."

"Some year," I agreed. Oddly, though, the picture which had been so vivid—the simple, crackerbox with the fishing rods leaned against it—had blurred almost to vanishing-point.

"Every February it happens," Ron said to Sue. "The same old pitch."

"Usually it isn't till March," Sue answered him. "But then, I did hear frogs singing last night."

So much for springtime dreaming. But we may, with luck, get the tent with the candy-stripe window awnings we had our eye on last fall!

Motorist Kelso Speers (left) was saved a weekend in jail by stranger Roy Parrett who posted bail.

STRANGER SAVED HIM WEEKEND IN JAIL

Driver Protests to A-G Judge Refused to Try Him

By DESMOND BILL

An impaired driver is going to complain to the attorney-general's department about the way he was treated when he appeared in police court Saturday.

Kelso Speers, 1398 Goldstream, would have had to spend the weekend in jail if a complete stranger had not come to his aid.

Magistrate J. A. Byers refused to take a plea from Speers when he appeared in court Saturday morning and Speers could not raise $250 bail.

SUNDAY MORNING

He would have had to stay in jail all weekend if a city businessman, Roy Parrett, 740 Cowper, hadn't heard of his plight Sunday morning.

Mr. Parrett had never heard of Speers before but he put up $250 for his bail because he was appalled at the way Speers was treated.

He said today: "I'm no crusader. But I was horrified at the idea of a man having to stay in jail because a magistrate didn't want to hear his plea."

PLEADED GUILTY

Speers pleaded guilty when he appeared before Magistrate William Ostler today. He was fined $400, given time to pay, and walked out of court a free man.

If Magistrate Byers had taken the plea then the case could have been disposed of on Saturday. But if Speers had pleaded not guilty then Magistrate Byers would have had to hear the case.

In the past Magistrate Byers has indicated he does not want to hear cases that come up when he is temporarily on the bench in place of Magistrate Ostler.

LOST CONTROL

Evidence today showed Speers lost control of his car on Douglas Street early Saturday and crashed down a 20-foot bank before coming to rest on a parking lot at the CCF Hall. Police said the lot was full of people at the time.

Magistrate Ostler told Speers he might easily have killed someone and Speers replied, "I know."

Speers said after court today that he was bewildered by the events in court Saturday. "I don't know what my legal rights are," he said.

VERY SORRY

He said he was very sorry about the whole case.

"I was in the wrong and I admitted it," he said. "I would have pleaded guilty on Saturday if I'd got a chance."

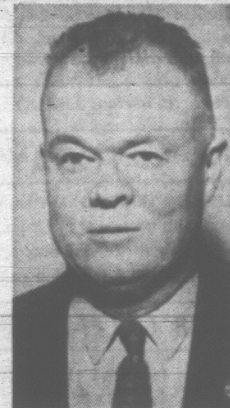

"I don't think it was right and I'm going to write to the attorney-general and tell him so."

Heart Fund Half Way Home

Vancouver Island has already raised nearly half of its $30,000 target in the current campaign to raise funds for the British Columbia Heart Foundation.

"We have had a very encouraging response since the campaign opened Feb. 1," Mrs. Mae Barry, Island secretary for the fund, said today.

"Donations, large and small, are coming in from all areas and Up-Island residents have been particularly generous. We have had donations from Kelsey Bay, Bamfield, Ucluelet, Tofino and the Albernis."

JOHN WILLIAMS ... convert funds

New Rooms or Shifts Sooke School Choice

Sooke school district will be forced into the shift system unless the education department approves an application to convert funds for emergency classroom construction.

Without the transfer of $90,000 to build six new classrooms, the elementary grades will start on shifts in September, board chairman John Williams said today.

"Langford, Glen Lake and Millstream schools are filled to the doors now. It will be worse in September," Mr. Williams said.

The only way to avoid shifts, the board believes, is to use funds previously allotted for activity-room construction to classroom construction, and the department's consent must be obtained.

Refusal on a technicality has already been the lot of an earlier approach to the department.

"We feel it is better for students to wait a year for their activity rooms than to make others wait for classrooms and go on shifts," Mr. Williams said.

It is hoped to proceed almost immediately after approval is obtained to build a new four-room school on a four-acre site at Grainger and Goldstream, the centre of Langford population. A two-room addition would be put on at Saseenos Elementary School. Both would serve grades one to seven.

Few Votes in North So Welfare Ignored Clergyman Charges

By FRANK RUTTER

Social problems are being ignored by the provincial government in northern B.C. because there are not enough votes, a Fort Nelson clergyman charged today.

Rev. T. J. Sawyer, a Protestant minister, made the statement in a letter to Welfare Minister Wesley Black.

"Commonlaw relationships, open promiscuity, teen-age drinking and complete indifference to moral and social obligations become the accepted norms of the area," Mr. Sawyer says.

'NO CHANCE'

Only two students have ever completed high school in Fort Nelson, a community of 2,500, and teenagers "don't have a chance," he adds.

Mr. Sawyer, a United Church minister, backed up welfare worker Wallace du Temple's pleas for more staff and facilities in the north.

Mr. du Temple had planned to resign in June, but was told to quit last week by welfare officials in Victoria.

No one in the welfare department, from Mr. Black down, was available to reporters for comment on Mr. Sawyer's letter.

SPENDS MILLIONS

The clergyman says Premier W. A. C. Bennett is spending hundreds of millions to develop the north with projects like the Peace River dam.

"These hordes of construction workers attract even more transient workers who add further to the social problems of the area."

"Yet all along the people who were born in the north, who have made the north their home for years, are being ignored because they do not count for much at the polls."

Most of Fort Nelson's population consists of temporary—but highly paid—oil workers and soldiers, he adds in the letter.

"They have no reason to invest their time, talents and money into the community because they will not be here to see the benefits."

"As a result there are no organized activities for the youth, there is no community spirit and there is no group willing to undertake community reform."

HOUSING LACKING

Housing is totally inadequate, Mr. Sawyer said. School facilities are good, and the teachers of high calibre, yet only two students have ever finished high school.

The nearest psychiatrist is in Edmonton and people who need long-term treatment cannot afford it, Mr. Sawyer says.

DAYS JOURNEY

The nearest social worker is at Fort St. John, 250 miles and "a full day's journey" away.

"The situation is even worse at Cassiar, Atlin and Lower Post."

"I have seen men out of work up here spend over three days trying to get transportation out of town. In the meantime they must be looked after. There is no one to do it."

WARDEN HALL ... western director

Ex-Victorian Named to Penal Post

Three promotions within the federal penitentiary service in western Canada were announced at Ottawa today.

An ex-Victorian, warden Thomas Watson Hall of New Westminster Penitentiary has been elevated to the new post of director of the western region of the service.

Deputy warden John Moloney takes over as warden. H. A. Collins, superintendent of the William Head Institution here, becomes deputy warden at New Westminster.

The promotions take effect April 1. No appointment has yet been made to fill Mr. Collins' post at William Head pending a competition between now and April 1.

Warden Hall, 51, is the son of a former Victoria police sergeant, the late Tom Hall. The warden joined the service as a guard in 1939 and served through the ranks. He was a major in the army overseas in Second World War and later commanded the Westminster Regiment as lieutenant-colonel.

An expert rifleman, Warden Hall has represented Canada on the Bisley team in England. He is noted for his experience with inmate training programs.

Mr. Moloney, 48, has been in the service since 1957 and was first superintendent of the Agassiz Correctional Institution. He is an RAF-RCAP veteran.

Mr. Collins, 58, joined the penitentiary service in 1949 and came to William Head in 1959.

New Plan Ready For Mental Health

One full-time psychiatrist and two full-time psychologists for Victoria schools and a new school for retarded children are recommended in a report by Metro Health chief Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread that goes to the health board Thursday.

It is expected that co-operation and support from the three school boards contained within the metro health area will be sought in efforts to obtain federal and provincial mental health grants to help make the proposed plans possible.

The special school referred to should be the combined effort of school districts 61, 62 and 63, the Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded, Cerebral Palsy Association and the Polymyositis and Rehabilitation Foundation, Dr. Whitbread said.

In addition, the report says, the provincial government should provide a mental health centre to include 400 beds for treatment of emotionally disturbed and severely retarded children, facilities for 50 day patients and residential accommodation for at least 36 children of all age groups for care and training of the emotionally disturbed.

$15,000 A YEAR

Dr. Whitbread pointed out that a psychiatrist alone would cost about $15,000 a year.

Although a part-time (three days a week) psychologist is employed now, it is impossible to engage a psychiatrist on a part-time basis.

If government grants are obtained, the balance of funds would come through local school boards, it is hoped.

DELEGATION

Dr. Whitbread proposes a delegation from the metro board be sent to Health Minister Eric Martin for an interview with a view to getting grants for salaries.

The services of a psychologist and psychiatrist would enable school nurse and physician to detect emotional disturbance or mental illness early; to treat early; discover moderately retarded; refer mentally ill children to provincial mental health services; assist Family and Children's Service with foster children and problem families and help the probation service

PEDESTRIAN INJURED

Impaired Drivers Pay $500, $300, $250

Three impaired drivers who appeared in city court today were fined $500, $300 and $250.

All of them lost their licences.

The heaviest penalty was levied on A. D. Thomson, 3330 Whittier, who was involved in an accident with an 88-year-old pedestrian Saturday night.

The old man, John Warman, 1017 Burdett, was severely injured. He is reported today in fairly good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The $300 fine was imposed on Robert Russell, 32 Gorge Road West. He was arrested on Pandora after hitting a parked car.

Evidence showed that when police arrived on the scene Russell asked them, "Will you drive me home as I'm in no condition to drive the car."

John Worthy, 123 Ontario, got off the lightest because he had parked his car on account of his condition. Police noticed him sitting in it because it was parked six feet from the curb on Douglas near-Queens.

Brother Mandus of the World Healing Crusade, Blackpool, England, will conduct a mission in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Wednesday at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

AVERAGE 2.92 MILES AN HOUR—ON FOOT

Stop-Watches Prove Victorians Speedy Lot

By AD KENT

Victorians walk faster than the average North American.

Teams of sly young men armed with stop-watches last fall put the lie to the old saw about the slow-moving habits of city pedestrians.

We walk at an average rate of 4.28 feet per second, or 2.92 miles per hour.

University of Victoria researcher Peter D. C. Clark, a graduate student, observed:

"This figure is worthy of note for it is commonly held that Victoria's pedestrians are among the slowest in North America. This, however, is not borne out in fact."

And he quotes from an Institute of Traffic Engineers handbook:

"Average walking speeds on level sidewalks have been found to vary from 3.5 to 4.5 feet per second, depending upon temperature, type of crowd, density of sidewalk use and other factors."

So what?

Apart from illustrating some amusing sidelights about Victoria pedestrians, the survey conducted by Mr. Clark for his urban geography course is a useful statistical report for the Capital Region Planning Board and is of interest to businesses that depend on walk-in clientele.

The survey also can be used by city traffic and street planners, especially with relation to urban renewal and beautification.

Pedestrian speed, percentage of those who stop to look in store windows, and factors that stop or hinder pedestrian movement were the items surveyed.

To get accurate figures, field teams found they had to spy on pedestrians from vantage points across the street, or else they attracted too much attention to themselves.

Other times, they trailed shoppers a la private eye, timing them as they made their way from point to point.

Since the survey depended in part on the age of the subjects, field men had some fun guessing, particularly with women. They found:

Women almost invariably stop to look in a storefront more frequently than males. If one person has stopped it is likely another will stop.

If a person has just made a stop he is reluctant to make another immediately.

Walk-don't-walk signals can slow a pedestrian's progress by nearly a minute (53 seconds) if he misses the "walk" phase.

Unusual sounds like screeching tires, sirens and low-flying aircraft bring pedestrians to a pause.

The covered sidewalk on Yates Street is highly popular with shoppers.

Females will often stop to look at a baby, and children to pet a dog.

"Finally, there is the arresting quality of human curiosity, be it to stop and observe a construction project or to ask the writer what he was doing with a stop-watch," Mr. Clark said.

TOPICS of the DAY

George Jay Home and School Club will meet in the school auditorium Wednesday at 8 p.m. A skit by Grade Seven pupils will be followed by an address by Mrs. J. P. Fleury titled "The School Nurse and Your Child."

St. Alban's 50-Up Club will meet in the Parish Hall, 1468 Ryan Street, Thursday at 2 p.m.

Ask The Times

Q. What is the difference between sherbet and ice cream? Has one more calorie content than the other? R. M. S.

A. Ice cream is primarily a milk product. Sherbet has considerably less milk solids, including fat.

Sherbet has a between one and two per cent butterfat but is high in sugar which increases the calorie content. Ice cream has the highest calorie content of the two because it is much higher in butterfat.

Ice cream cannot be less than 36 per cent by weight in food solids. Sherbet must not contain more than five per cent by weight of food solids. Weight in sherbet is made up by its sugar content.

Chess players will see how the game should be played when Vancouver Island champion Olavi Sarakannas takes on 30 players at one time in an exhibition March 9.

The tournament sponsored by the Victoria City Chess Club will be held in the Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay Co. Players should register with tournament director G. F. Topham.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner will address a meeting of Victoria Life Underwriters Wednesday noon at the Tally Ho.

FLORISTS' SAFE FOUND BROKEN OPEN

A safe reported stolen from Woodward's Florists, 635 Fort, was found Sunday morning in premises on Wharf Street, city police reported today.

The safe, which had been forced open with a crowbar, was found by two cleaners who entered the premises early in the day.

City police said about $100 cash was stolen from the safe.

City council today was asked to permit the proposed sightseeing stern-wheeler boats that will be operating from an Inner Harbor float to set up a ticket booth on the Causeway this summer.

Professor C. S. Burchill, head of the history and economics department, United Services College, Royal Roads, will speak on "China 1963" to Victoria Canadian Club, Feb. 25 at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. Olive Stuart and W. H. Gregory will be guest speakers at a meeting of the Registered Music Teachers' Association Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the home of Eric Edwards, 119 Linden Avenue.

The Air Force Officers' Association of Vancouver Island will mark its 18th anniversary at a meeting in the officers' lounge, Air Force Building, 1212 Quadra Street, Wednesday at 8:15 p.m.

After a short business meeting, presentations will be made to 10 former presidents. Two short films will then be shown—"Machines to Move the Mail" (1960) and "Hovercraft" (1962).

Rebekah and Odd Fellow lodge members have been invited to attend the 94th anniversary celebration of Columbia Lodge No. 2, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Odd Fellows Hall.

TUESDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Electric Club: 12:05 p.m., Crest Motel; Interior designer Allan Edwards, "Design for Contemporary Living."

Victoria North Kiwanis Club: 6:15 p.m., Tally Ho; Thomas Wellburn, "Thirty Eventful Hours by Bus."

Esquimalt Lions Club: 6:30 p.m., Carlton Club.

SHOPPING GUIDE

New-Style Lint Remover—
Boon to All Men and Women

By PENNY SAVER

Up until today, Penny was firmly convinced that lint was the plague of all fashion-conscious women (and a lot of the men, too).

What changed her mind? A handy lint remover. Made like a miniature paint roller, the remover will roll away all lint from clothes, uniforms, suede, furniture and auto upholstery. Price is $1.

Ideal for last-minute cleaning, removers have 60 inches of tape inside the roller and refills are available for 35 cents.

Have you ever tried cleaning pewter with hopes that it will develop a satiny patina? This formerly impossible task has now been reduced to utmost simplicity with the use of a new metal polish. Price is 99 cents and cream will clean, polish, protect and give a mirror-like brilliance to all hard-to-clean surfaces, including pewter and platinum. All you do is apply and wipe or wash off. Polish removes coffee and vegetable stains from aluminum cookware, prevents pitting, and shine is guaranteed to last as long as six months.

If you're a family of fish and chip eaters, Penny has just the thing for you—French fry cutters priced at 49 cents. Simply cut your potatoes in half, set them down on a cutting board and push the cutter down over the top. Cutter guarantees perfect chips in seconds and the fine steel blade gives clean, positive cutting action.

On the other hand, if you prefer casseroles and like to put your cooking dishes right from the oven onto the table, a magic cradle is in order.

Made of chrome, cradles adjust to fit any size casserole dish. Regularly priced at $2.95, cradles have been reduced to $1.50.

If you would like further information on these items, call Penny at 382-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

MEN—Lunches Shouldn't
Make You a 'Tubby Hubby'

Don't let the men fool you! My experience with "Why Grow Old?" has convinced me that they are just about as interested in health and weight control and appearance as women are.

I receive many letters from men requesting directions as to diet and exercise and weight. For this reason, every once in a while, I give a few days to the stronger sex. Actually, while men have more muscle power than women, they are more vulnerable than women to almost all diseases. They, especially, need to take care of their health.

In the past, many men felt that figure control was for the birds, or rather the women, and that to be too concerned about health was unmanly. All that has been changed by the newer knowledge about the dangers of overweight. We know that a slim waistline is a good lifeline and that a "bay window" is a real threat to longevity as well as to an attractive appearance.

Many men gain their extra pounds at lunch. Their wives may be most interested in helping them lose their extra padding and may plan the two meals they have at home with serious concern as to nutrition and weight. However, one poorly selected lunch can completely sabotage the care at home.

Here are a few things to remember.

1. Eat only lean meat, either broiled or baked. Cut the fat off and leave off the gravy.
 2. Fish and seafoods are healthful and delicious luncheon items. If you use lemon instead of sauces with them, and they are broiled rather than fried, they are low-calorie foods.
 3. Go easy on the bread. You can get a lot of calories fast just by filling up on crackers and butter, along with your reducing soup.
 4. I don't have to tell you that cocktails are high in calorie count.
 5. Order a baked potato instead of French fries.
 6. Go light on butter.
 7. If you must have a dessert, order an ice or gelatin or canned, water-packed fruit or some similar item. Forget that favorite, pie a la mode for a while.
 8. If you have several cups of coffee at breakfast, and again at noon, then use one of the artificial sweeteners.
- These measures will minimize the danger of lunches which are too high in calories.
- If any of the men who read my column would like to have my Tubby Hubby Diet, which gives you a loss of from seven to 12 pounds in 12 days, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

CLUBWOMEN'S NEWS

New Members—At dinner meeting of Oak Bay Business and Professional Women's Club recently in Oak Bay Beach Hotel private dining room, three new members and a prospective member were introduced by president Mrs. G. Simpson. They were Mrs. Faith McNeel, Mrs. I. Saunders, Miss Roseann Barrett and Mrs. M. Rawnsley. International topic for February "Peoples of Other Lands" was used as the evening's theme. Mrs. Agnes Henning showed color slides taken in many parts of the world, accompanied with an interesting personal commentary. Special guest was Miss E. L. Forbes, Victoria BPW Club. Mrs. Simpson was named delegate to the 13th biennial convention of the Canadian Federation of BPW clubs in Ottawa in July, and Mrs. Joy Perkins delegate to the provincial conference of British Columbia at Pinewoods on the Hope-Princeton Highway in May.

Properly Cooked
Fish—Sumptuous
Lenten Meals

During Lent, fish will no doubt appear often in your family meal planning.

Tender, juicy, flavorful halibut and salmon fillets and steaks are simple to prepare, if you just remember the following rules:

Cook fresh fish only 10 minutes per inch thickness at a high temperature. Unlike meat or poultry, fish has little connective tissue, and therefore requires only brief cooking.

You do not need to thaw frozen fish, except when necessary for ease in handling. Simply cut into serving-size portions, and allow 20 minutes' cooking per inch thickness.

When baking, cook in an oven preheated to 450 degrees.

Fish is cooked when it loses its translucent appearance and becomes opaque.

Test with a fork: it should flake readily, and be easily pierced.

Serve immediately while piping hot and juicy.

Women's Auxiliary to Veterans' Hospital will hold a coffee-sherry party and membership drive on Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. E. Alcorn, 2620 Lansdowne Road. Seen with hostess, at left, are Mrs. H. F. Jarvis, centre, auxiliary president, and Mrs. E. Vant, convener of the affair. Take Uplands bus to Nottingham Road.

DEAR ABBY...

Looks That Way!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school and I like a boy who is also a senior. Even though he has never asked me out, when we had a big girl-ask-boy dance, I asked him to go. He said he was sorry but he was working that night. Then we had another dance and I asked him again. He said his sister was having a baby and it might be born that night, so he didn't think he should make any plans. Now the glee club is giving their big dance and I want to ask him, but I am wondering if maybe he might get the idea that I am chasing him.

BLONDE AND CUTE—

DEAR BLONDE: He just might.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is a good-looking, well-educated, charming young woman in her early thirties. All her life she has disappointed us by her choice of friends. She was married and divorced three times in 10 years to three of the lowest characters you could imagine. One is serving time now in a penitentiary. She has recently taken up with another inferior type. He is lazy, illiterate and dishonest. We know we can't live our daughter's life for her, but we want to help her. Why, oh why, does an intelligent, well-bred girl, who could have had any number of fine men, prefer these worthless, good-for-nothing characters?

HEARTSICK MOTHER—

DEAR HEARTSICK: Your daughter has a feeling of worthlessness, and is at ease only with those to whom she can feel superior. A psychiatrist could probably tell her why. But unless SHE wants to know, no one can help her.

DEAR ABBY: A relative is my concern. He is his own worst enemy. He is a poor listener, and will interrupt anyone to change the subject or to tell his point of view. He is arrogant and sarcastic when someone disagrees with him, whether it is at the bridge table or in general conversation. His bragging is insufferable, and if he didn't have money nobody would put up with him for a minute. I would like to be helpful. But how?

A RELATIVE—

DEAR RELATIVE: He does not want "help"—he wants an audience. Avoid him.

Gown of Own Design

Judith Patricia Strong wore a white peau de soie wedding gown she had designed and made herself when she exchanged vows with Gordon Herbert Davies in St. Martin-in-the-Fields Church recently. Lace and pearl appliques highlighted the bodice and full train. The gown featured a round neckline, lily point sleeves, lowered front waistline and full, softly pleated skirt. A short illusion net veil misted from a pearl and sequin headress. Two white orchids centred the bouquet of white freesia.

White chrysanthemums were at the altar and the church was decorated with pink chrysanthemums, pussy willow and greenery for the ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. T. Strong, 2837 Inez Drive, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Davies, 4796 Spring Road.

Rev. B. Cowan-officiated and organist was Jack Murray. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Bill Paterson during signing of the register. Mr. Strong gave his daughter in marriage.

Bell-skirted gowns of shocking pink peau de soie, waist-length jackets of toning sparkle organza and matching peau de soie pill boxes, skirted with organza veils, were worn by Miss Wendy Strong, maid of honor; Mrs. Larry Davies, bridesmatron and Miss Joan Davies, bridesmaid.

Seven-year-old Melanie Butler was flower girl in a full-skirted frock and jacket of shocking pink organza, with toning satin sash and headband.

All carried bouquets of white feathered carnations. Senior attendants had pearl pendants and the flower girl, a tiny bracelet, gifts of the bride.

Best man was Peter McCready and ushering guests were Larry Davies, the groom's brother; Art Wilson and Larry Russell.

Plans Made To Mark Thinking Day

Next Saturday 211,000 Canadian girl guides, brownies and rangers will join with millions of other girls in 68 countries of the free world in special celebrations to observe annual Thinking Day.

This day is set aside to promote world friendship and is a tribute to the late Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell, who founded the Boy Scout and Girl Guide movements, and his wife, Lady Baden-Powell, world chief guide, whose birthdays both fall on this date.

World friendship is not a one-day observance. Throughout the year girl guides make special studies of other countries through international camping.

Included in the past year's activities were a trip to a Japan-Asian camp; another to New York and Fort Worth, Texas, and one to Mexico.

Celebrations for this year's observance began Sunday when local guides of the Victoria area held a church parade in St. John's hall.

Thinking Day itself will be observed with a patrol leaders' conference for the whole area and the week will conclude next Sunday when guides at district churches according to arrangements made by their own divisions.

Women of Victoria had a "field day" Saturday when they attended the annual IODE Festival, held in the Club Sirocco.

From the time the affair was opened at 11 a.m. by Mrs. George R. Pearkes, the place was a hive of activity. Local IODE chapters combined and raised $4,000 for their various activities. Mrs. G. R. Pearkes was general convener.

Highlight of the day's activities were two fashion shows, featuring styles and millinery from Miss Frith's.

On a stage resplendent with standards of the various chapters, the latest in spring fashions brought continuous murmurs of appreciation from the enthusiastic audience.

Emphasis was on femininity.

There were no "way-out" creations, the attention-getting being confined to good tailoring, subtle blending of materials and choice of color.

First clothes to be shown fitted in completely with the decor, having a patriotic flavor with their attractive blending of red, white and blue.

One of the most outstanding outfits was a dress of navy blue and versatile cape, designed by Oleg Cassini. The cape was reversible, with the model being able to switch from a scarlet to navy exterior, depending on her whim of the moment.

Other show-stoppers were suits from Italy that relied on crocheted raffia for excitement of material.

Complete approval was given to versatile outfit that featured a black, sleeveless sheath that teamed with a "pukkah" three-quarter-length coat in the eastern influence. The sparkling black hat which the model wore to complete her outfit, got an extra fillip when she discarded the coat for a twinkling sequined sweater.

Milady's head came in for a great deal of attention. When the models weren't wooing their audience with chic chapeau they had them joining in a gigantic guessing game as they changed appearances with realistic wigs.

Mrs. T. Kowalchuk was show convener and models were the Misses Susan Pears and Linda Kowalchuk, Mrs. T. Clark, Mrs. Daryl Elford, Mrs. J. Pantou and Mrs. D. A. Smith. Commentator was W. W. Sinclair.

In addition to the latest in fashions, guests were treated to songs by Peggy Walton Packard, accompanied by Timothy Vernon.

Members of the Florence Nightingale Chapter convened the luncheon, led by Mrs. Harold Menzies. Seated at the head table were Mrs. Pearkes, Mrs. Pears, Mrs. Peter Bell, municipal regent; Mrs. Elsie Lowthian, first vice-regent, and Miss Christine MacNab.

Mrs. H. Davenport, of the Navy League Chapter, convened tea arrangements.

Other conveners were: Jams and Jellies, Mrs. J. Van Norman, Camosun Chapter; aprons and novelties, Mrs. J. Carson, Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter; French Shop, Mrs. B. Hayward, Alden Hamber; home cooking, Mrs. J. Specht, Major John Hedden Gillespie Chapter; auction, Mrs. C. C. Riach, Royal Roads Chapter; Olde Curiosity Shoppe, Mrs. A. McFarlane, Robert Burns McMicking Chapter; delicatessen, Mrs. Pantou, Royal Bride Chapter; candy, Mrs. A. G. Fulmer, Esquimalt Chapter; post office, Mrs. W. Smith, Esquimalt Chapter.

One of the most happy women in Victoria was Mrs. W. Bentham. She had the winning ticket on the raffle for a $500 savings bond.

Impressive Capping Ceremony

It was an impressive moment for 39 students of the Royal Jubilee Hospital's school of nursing when they received their caps at ceremony held in the reception room of the nurses' residence, Friday afternoon.

Capping is symbolic of the completion of the students' probationary period.

Hospital administrator George Masters greeted the guests, Miss Muriel E. Thompson, director of nursing, presented "caps" and spoke to the students.

Each student received a miniature Florence Nightingale lamp, gift of the hospital's Woman's Auxiliary, Canon R. K. Sampson presented the principals with New Testaments that had been donated by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Gideon Society.

Program included a selection of songs by the students' choir. Following the ceremony, refreshments were served to the students, their parents and guests by the hospital's alumnae association.

Victoria students are Virginia Ambery, Marilyn Bewley, Patricia Bowden, Cheryl Custance, Margaret Dawson, Valerie Defoe, Irene Forbes, Janis Girard, Jo Ellen Graham, Wendy Hatcher, Carol Hay, Pamela Heycock, Sheila Hincks, Lucille Lamb, Kathleen Landels, Frances Morrison, Blainie Seriver, Heather Thorndick.

Others were Heather Auchincloss, Union Bay; Lois Bosetti, Cobble Hill; Lynne Cozens, Chemainus; Catherine Douma, Sidney; Janet Manville and Anne Harold, both of Vancouver; Barbara Lansing, Powell River; Joyce Lefaux, Nelson; Sharon Litwen, Cumberland; Eileen Meynell, Donna Kolloch and Carol Pack, all of Duncan; Carolyn Moody, Montrose; Laureen Penniket, Bonington Falls; Sandra Smith, Ladysmith; Helena Taylor, Parksville; Nancy Tidman, Brentwood; Anne Turner, Port Alberni; Shirley Wagner, Courtenay; Sheila Westlin, Grest Central, B.C., and Carolyn Wylie, Vernon.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Destry ambled on to the scene Friday and just managed to crawl away an hour later.

The western hero was created by writer Max Brand. He's in the saddle pre-maturely as a replacement for mid-season casualty "77 Sunset Strip."

Over the many years the famed character has been portrayed by Andy Griffith in a Broadway musical and Tom Mix. Andie Murphy and James Stewart in the movies. Of the latter string, Stewart turned in the most memorable role. That movie is just now beginning to come back in the late movie slots.

The new TV series stars John Gavin as Destry. His portrayal falls short. Originally Destry was a comic character who takes life as it comes and shuns trouble.

Perhaps the initial episode, "The Misunderstanding," was unfair to him because the plot was too heavy to receive the light hearted treatment.

In the debut he got mixed up with Tammy Grimes (a saloon singer), Broderick Crawford (a corrupt investigator) and Neville Brand (a convicted murderer). The hour was spent searching for $100,000 in stolen, buried gold. The law got the gold in the end but the viewer was short-changed.

It is rather unfair to heap too much criticism on Gavin and his portrayal after only one viewing.

The show idea is a good one. If he can round out his character, ABC-TV may find itself with another successful Maverick-type western on its hands. At least, this writer hopes so. With that in mind, I reserve the right to come back to him in several weeks time and take a second look.

If you were one of the many who predicted a fantastic audience for the first North American appearance of the Beatles on television, you were correct.

According to Nielsen samplings taken only in the New York metropolitan area, 72.7 per cent of all sets in use were turned to the Ed Sullivan Show. Other samplings found the variety show's normal Sunday night audience had just about doubled.

The ratings for the rest of the continent will be available in a few weeks. The New York figures should hold up everywhere.

The American Broadcasting Co. has announced that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will assist the network's news team in covering this year's Republican convention in San Francisco.

The network says he will be on-air consultant and participate in several special programs during the campaign. Eisenhower's former news secretary, James Magerty, is vice-president in charge of corporate relations for American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres Inc.

THERE'S NO TIME FOR KIDS TO BE KIDS

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Extreme pressures on school children are driving them towards heart attacks and nervous breakdowns, a college professor says.

Professor Ronald C. Doll of Hunter College, City University of New York, said children are given little time just to be children.

"Children who come home from school after a day of intense activity have to be hauled away to their music or dancing lessons, to a medical specialist, to special language instruction, ad infinitum to heart attacks and breakdowns."

DEPUTY SHERIFF searches a spectator entering the courtroom in Dallas today where Jack Ruby went on trial for the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald. All persons entering the courtroom were searched as a precautionary move. Jury selection is expected to last a week.

Defence Loses Twice As Ruby Trial Opens

DALLAS (UPI)—Defence lawyers vainly sought a directed verdict of acquittal at the start of Jack Ruby's murder trial today and then lost a bid to have jurors searched as a precaution against "the climate of Dallas."

Rejecting the defence demands, Judge Joe B. Brown called in a panel of 150 prospective jurors for questioning behind locked doors. He ordered 10 to return for further questioning and 100 were told to report back Tuesday morning. Fifteen women were excused.

Chief defence attorney Melvin Bell charged outside the court that "our (hotel) rooms have been bugged, our briefcases gone through and our telephones tapped."

But he said he was sure his room was not "bugged" now with any eavesdropping device.

SMILING
Ruby, smiling cheerfully, entered the court through a little green door and took a seat at the defence table, where he intently studied the names of would-be jurors.

The defence asked Brown for a verdict of acquittal on grounds Ruby suffers "organic brain damage" and psychomotor epilepsy, which causes "blackouts." The defence argued the 32-year-old slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald was innocent on those grounds.

Brown rejected the motion and another motion that Ruby should be freed on grounds of "double jeopardy."

All spectators and newsmen entering the room were frisked for weapons. The defence demanded that members of the jury panel be submitted to the same thorough search by deputies and court matrons.

"Jurors must be searched to show the climate of Dallas," Bell said, as part of the defence contention that Dallas cannot give Ruby a fair trial through fear and animosity.

"This is the court's business, not the business of the defence," said Assistant District Attorney A. D. (Jim) Bowie.

Green Thumb Gang Terror in Suburbs

SEATTLE (AP) — Police tried again Sunday to dig up clues in the case of the green thumb bandits before the shrub-and-plant thieves pulled up another yard.

The garden-by-night gang struck for the third time Saturday and raised more than 40 assorted plants from seven homes in a suburb just north of Seattle.

The night before about 55 shrubs vanished from residences in west Seattle, and Thursday night more than 60 expensive plants were spaded up on the east side of town.

Officers theorize the thieves are well-versed in the gardening vocation. They seem to concentrate on rhododendrons, azaleas and viburnum and remove the plants during darkness with expertise. Many of the missing plants are valued up to $25 each.

Merchant Marine Urged To Meet Shipyard Crisis

Wilson Presents Brief at Ottawa

By JOHN MIKA

Prime Minister Pearson today was asked to rebuild the defunct Canadian merchant marine to stabilize the west coast shipbuilding industry.

This could provide the long-range answer for the industry's main problems, Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson said when summing up a brief he presented to the prime minister in Ottawa.

The brief was released simultaneously here. It was carried to Ottawa by Mayor Wilson, Chamber of Commerce president E. E. Pearman, labor representative Ald. A. W. Toome and North Vancouver Mayor W. M. Angus.

IMPENDING CRISIS
The five-page brief warned Mr. Pearson of an "impending crisis in our shipyards" and suggested two immediate aids:

- Letting of contracts forthwith, for this coast's shipyards, of the proposed three Esquimalt-based destroyer-escort multi-million-dollar conversions.
- Expediting of the five-year $165,000,000 federal shipbuilding program with a higher proportion of the work going to the west coast.

"There is need also to take a serious look at the need for long-range stabilization of the west coast shipbuilding industry with its past history of 'feast or famine,'" the mayor's brief said.

START REBUILDING
"The answer to this could well be a start on the rebuilding of a Canadian merchant marine."

"It is hoped this will have the serious consideration of your government."

The brief said the government's decision to reorient and modernize the defence establishment was courageous but chances of such magnitude could disrupt vital industries.

The majority of the big west coast shipyards face "the grim prospect of unemployment" while undergoing the impact of warship mothballing plans and cancellation of the all-purpose frigate program.

INSTANT WORK
"The need now is for 'instant work' in these yards if we are to forestall large-scale unemployment," it said.

Mayor Wilson pointed out Greater Victoria's present unemployment rate stands at 8.17 per cent of the labor force, compared with a national average of 7.5 per cent.

THIS WEEK

Shipyard Talks May Resume

Possibility was seen today of renewed negotiations this week in the 12-day-old shipyard strike.

David Chapman, chief union negotiator in the strike which has idled "big three" yards here and in Vancouver, said that fresh union-management talks could be initiated sometime today.

He said that if more talks are decided upon, they will probably take place this week.

UNIONS THINKING
"The unions are doing a lot of thinking," he said.

"There's no great difference of opinion," he added, commenting on a weekend press report that differing views are keeping the 22 unions from presenting a common front.

"There is one basic position, and no matter what comes up, if the majority accepts, there'll be no problem."

TWO-YEAR PACT
Unions are basically seeking a two-year contract, with possible alternatives of wage increases over the two years of 40 cents or 30 cents.

Mr. Chapman said union demands at the negotiating table are much governed by the management position.

UN OBSERVER WINS TRUCE IN TOWN

NICOSIA (Reuters) — Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyan, United Nations observer in Cyprus, said today Greek and Turkish Cypriots in the northwestern mining town of Polis had agreed at his urging not to fight each other.

Earlier reports said Greek Cypriots had surrounded 700 Turkish Cypriots in Polis. One hundred British paratroopers were reported heading for the town.

A British military spokesman, announcing the manoeuvre, said the Turks were inside a school building, dispirited and short of food. Greeks were dug in 100 yards away.

There was no shooting overnight but the situation was tense, the spokesman said.

'Well Received'

By ALEX YOUNG

OTTAWA—Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson today said he received a "very sympathetic hearing" from Prime Minister Pearson when he submitted a brief to the government seeking more government work for B.C. shipyards.

"Of course," he added, "we didn't expect the prime minister or Mr. Drury (industry minister) to make a decision today. There was no indication given of which way any decision might go."

"It is up to them. We have done our best."

Before meeting with the prime minister and the industry minister, Mayor Angus sent to the prime minister a box of spring flowers from Victoria.

UN Postpones Cyprus Debate

(Times News Services)
UNITED NATIONS—In a surprise move, the United Nations Security Council today postponed for 24 hours scheduled debate on the Cyprus problem.

The adjournment was proposed by Norwegian delegate Sievert A. Nielsen, who said Britain and Cyprus had agreed to permit more time for consultations. There were no objections.

Earlier, the U.S. and Britain disclaimed intention to partition Cyprus between its battling Greek and Turkish communities.

Parallel Anglo-American statements came as the Security Council prepared to meet to seek a solution of the communal fighting that private U.S.-British diplomatic efforts were unable to settle in the face of opposition by Cypriot President Archbishop Makarios.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson issued a formal statement saying:

"Press reports from London that the United States is seeking to isolate Archbishop Makarios, and favors settlement of the communal conflict in Cyprus by partition, are untrue."

NOT U.N. POLICY
A British delegation spokesman said "stories of cantonization of Cyprus bear no relation to current British policy."

In Washington, undersecretary of state George W. Ball, just returned from an unsuccessful effort to win Makarios' agreement to a NATO peace force in Cyprus, said President Johnson shared his conviction that the United States should not seek to impose a solution.

"Our purpose is not to impose or dictate or even suggest the terms of a final solution," Ball said after reporting to Johnson, "but to bring about conditions . . . of law and order."

The Anglo-American strategy was to seek to head off any Soviet attempt to stir up the situation here and await developments in the debate before making a formal move for U.N. action.

CLC Fights 'Sabotage' Of Air Line
OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Labor Congress said today any move to turn over part of Trans-Canada Air Line operations to regional carriers would be "the first step in sabotaging an airline that is the pride of the Canadian people."

CLC President Claude Jodoin was commenting on remarks made by Transport Minister Pickersgill in Edmonton Saturday.

New Session 'Acid Test' For Cabinet

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament meets Tuesday with a changed executive and a slightly different mood from the post-election session of last May.

The session, which starts with the reading of the throne speech by Governor-General Vanier, will be the acid test of the new ministerial lineup and cabinet reorganization worked out by Prime Minister Pearson since the last session in December.

It also may see less attention from the opposition parties to the issues arising from last spring's election that brought the minority Liberal government to power.

The Progressive Conservatives, fresh from efforts at national convention to head the party firmly on the comeback trail, are expected to spend more time on the "should-be" of the legislative program than the "might-have-beens" of their losing election effort last year.

NO DANGER

Dock Unions Ask Use of U.S. Ships

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—AFL-CIO president George Meany gave tacit approval today to a union boycott that has halted loading of American wheat for Russia in two gulf coast ports.

But he said he was working at President Johnson's request to settle the dispute between maritime unions and the government that led to the longshoremen's refusal to handle grain in New Orleans and Houston. The problem would be settled, Meany told a news conference, if the administration would see to it that 50 per cent of the Russian-bound wheat is sent in American-flag vessels.

He indicated he was seeking new assurances from officials in Washington to achieve that objective.

Parliament opens tomorrow, and a lot of issues reopen. As land assessments by the government go up, assessments of the government's down. With all these shipyard ways there ought to be some shipyard means.

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1964—PAGE 17

Arthur Mayse

To pass time on a long drive a while ago, Win and I set about planning a weekend cabin. It was to rise, neat as a bug's ear, on some scrap of foreshore no more than 30 miles from home.

This hideaway would be very plain—just shake-roofed with bunk beds, stove, shelves, plank table and unpainted chairs. We would light it with candles, or if we decided to go fancy, hunt up a couple of coal-oil lamps. Some year, we might even get around to painting the chairs.

All this, you understand, was dream stuff pure and simple; no more than a pleasant diversion to ease the miles. Win knew, and so did I, that our beach cabin was unlikely to take shape outside our pooled imaginations.

That should have been that. The fancy had served its purpose. Unfortunately, we talked up so clear a picture of our haven (oars leaned to one side of the door, salmon rods at the other) that it remained with us when we joined our teenagers at dinner.

"We were driving along," I said, "and we got thinking it would be fun some year if we built a little beach cottage."

If Ron and Sue heard, they let no sign escape them.

"With a fireplace," Win supplemented. "We'd pick stones the right size and shape, and carry them up from the beach."

There had been no previous mention of this item, but come to think of it, a beach-stone fireplace would be a worthy addition.

"Where?" Ron asked, tardily taking notice.

"At one end," I said.

"I mean where is this particular dream-shack going to be?"

"Not a shack," Win corrected him. I said, "What we had in mind was a small cottage." That sounded better than "cabin," and the inward picture expanded ever so slightly. To the stone fireplace—we'd have to hire an expert for that—the word "cottage" added patio and window boxes.

"That's nice," Sue said indulgently. "How many rooms in this one?"

"Driving along the wet highway with the wipers busy and the world shut out, we hadn't thought in terms of rooms. Just a plain little box, remember, with bunk beds, and some kind of sliding curtain arrangement on rods and rings.

"Well," Win said, "it would be no trick at all, really, to compartment it off with plywood. I've been thinking, too, we might have electricity. Not right away, perhaps, but when we can get around to it."

Quite right. Lamp chimneys are fragile. They get sooted. Nor is reading easy by lamplight.

"You haven't told us about the well yet," Ron said, in the most amiable of tones, "and the gasoline pump. But if you're getting power in this one, it will be an electric pump, I guess."

"Couldn't we make it a lake instead of a beach?" Sue asked. "I like fresh water better for swimming."

"It was a lake last time," Ron said. "At least, I think it was."

"A log cabin," Sue corrected. "Reached only by trail, with a creek going past it—or through it or something."

It seemed to me that we had wandered rather from our beach house. I fetched us back to it.

"Naturally, we'd want a screened sleeping porch," I said.

"And since we're having water pumped in, I suppose we could have a heater and a proper bathroom," Win added. "Not for a while, of course. But some year."

"Some year," I agreed.

Oddly, though, the picture which had been so vivid—the simple crackerbox with the fishing rods leaned against it—had blurred almost to vanishing-point.

"Every February it happens," Ron said to Sue. "The same old pitch."

"Usually it isn't till March," Sue answered him. "But then, I did hear frogs singing last night."

So much for springtime dreaming. But we may, with luck, get the tent with the candy-stripe window awnings we had our eye on last fall!

Motorist Kelso Speers (left) was saved a weekend in jail by stranger Roy Parrett who posted bail.

By DESMOND BILL

An impaired driver is going to complain to the attorney-general's department about the way he was treated when he appeared in police court Saturday.

Kelso Speers, 1398 Goldstream, would have had to spend the weekend in jail if a complete stranger had not come to his aid.

Magistrate J. A. Byers refused to take a plea from Speers when he appeared in court Saturday morning and Speers could not raise $250 bail.

SUNDAY MORNING

He would have had to stay in jail all weekend if a city businessman, Roy Parrett, 740 Cowper, hadn't heard of his plight Sunday morning.

Mr. Parrett had never heard of Speers before but he put up $250 for his bail because he was appalled at the way Speers was treated.

He said today: "I'm no crusader. But I was horrified at the idea of a man having to stay in jail because a magistrate didn't want to hear his plea."

PLEADED GUILTY

Speers pleaded guilty when he appeared before Magistrate William Ostler today. He was fined $400, given time to pay, and walked out of court a free man.

If Magistrate Byers had taken the plea then the case could have been disposed of on Saturday. But if Speers had pleaded not guilty then Magistrate Byers would have had to hear the case.

In the past Magistrate Byers has indicated he does not want to hear cases that come up when he is temporarily on the bench in place of Magistrate Ostler.

LOST CONTROL

Evidence today showed Speers lost control of his car on Douglas Street early Saturday and crashed down a 20-foot bank before coming to rest on a parking lot at the CCF Hall. Police said the lot was full of people at the time.

Magistrate Ostler told Speers he might easily have killed someone and Speers replied, "I know."

Speers said after court today that he was bewildered by the events in court Saturday. "I don't know what my legal rights are," he said.

VERY SORRY

He said he was very sorry about the whole case.

"I was in the wrong and I admitted it," he said. "I would have pleaded guilty on Saturday if I'd got a chance. If I don't think it was right and I'm going to write to the attorney-general and tell him so."

Heart Fund Half Way Home

Vancouver Island has already raised nearly half of its $30,000 target in the current campaign to raise funds for the British Columbia Heart Foundation.

"We have had a very encouraging response since the campaign opened Feb. 1," Mrs. Mae Barry, island secretary for the fund, said today.

"Donations, large and small, are coming in from all areas and Up-Island residents have been particularly generous. We have had donations from Kelsey Bay, Bamfield, Uclulet, Tofino, the Albernis and

... converts funds

New Rooms or Shifts Sooke School Choice

Sooke school district will be forced into the shift system unless the education department approves an application to convert funds for emergency classroom construction.

Without the transfer of $90,000 to build six new classrooms, the elementary grades will start on shifts in September, board chairman John Williams said today.

"Langford, Glen Lake and Millstream schools are filled to the doors now. It will be worse in September," Mr. Williams said.

The only way to avoid shifts, the board believes, is to use funds previously allotted for activity-room construction to classroom construction, and the department's consent must be obtained.

Refusal on a technicality has already been the lot of an earlier approach to the department.

"We feel it is better for students to wait a year for their activity rooms than to make others wait for classrooms and go on shifts," Mr. Williams said.

It is hoped to proceed almost immediately after approval is obtained to build a new four-room school on a four-acre site at Grainger and Goldstream, the centre of Langford population. A two-room addition would be put on at Saseenos Elementary School. Both would serve grades one to seven.

Few Votes in North So Welfare Ignored Clergyman Charges

By FRANK RUTTER

Social problems are being ignored by the provincial government in northern B.C. because there are not enough votes, a Fort Nelson clergyman charged today.

Rev. T. J. Sawyer, a Protestant minister, made the statement in a letter to Welfare Minister Wesley Black.

"Commonlaw relationships, open promiscuity, teen-age drinking and complete indifference to moral and social obligations become the accepted norms of the area," Mr. Sawyer says.

NO CHANCE

Only two students have ever completed high school in Fort Nelson, a community of 2,500, and teenagers "don't have a chance," he adds.

Mr. Sawyer, a United Church minister, backed up welfare worker Wallace du Temple's pleas for more staff and facilities in the north.

Mr. du Temple had planned to resign in June, but was told to quit last week by welfare officials in Victoria.

No one in the welfare department, from Mr. Black down, was available to reporters for comment on Mr. Sawyer's letter.

SPENDS MILLIONS

The clergyman says Premier W. A. C. Bennett is spending hundreds of millions to develop the north with projects like the Peace River dam.

"These hordes of construction workers attract even more transient workers who add further to the social problems of the area."

"Yet all along the people who were born in the north, who have made the north their home for years, are being ignored because they do not count for much at the polls."

Most of Fort Nelson's population consists of temporary—but highly paid—oil workers and soldiers, he adds in the letter.

"They have no reason to invest their time, talents and money into the community because they will not be here to see the benefits."

"As a result there are no organized activities for the youth, there is no community spirit and there is no group willing to undertake community reform."

HOUSING LACKING

Housing is totally inadequate, Mr. Sawyer said. School facilities are good, and the teachers of high calibre, yet only two students have ever finished high school.

The nearest psychiatrist is in Edmonton and people who need long-term treatment cannot afford it, Mr. Sawyer says.

DAYS' JOURNEY

The nearest social worker is at Fort St. John, 250 miles and "a full day's journey" away.

The situation is even worse at Cassiar, Atlin and Lower Post.

"I have seen men out of work up here spend over three days trying to get transportation out of town. In the meantime they must be looked after. There is no one to do it."

New Plan Ready For Mental Health

One full-time psychiatrist and two full-time psychologists for Victoria schools and a new school for retarded children are recommended in a report by Metro Health chief Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread that goes to the health board Thursday.

It is expected that co-operation and support from the three school boards contained within the metro health area will be sought in efforts to obtain federal and provincial mental health grants to help make the proposed plans possible.

$15,000 A YEAR

Dr. Whitbread pointed out that a psychiatrist alone would cost about $15,000 a year.

Although a part-time (three days a week) psychologist is employed now, it is impossible to engage a psychiatrist on a part-time basis.

If government grants are obtained, the balance of funds would come through local school boards, it is hoped.

DELEGATION

Dr. Whitbread proposes a delegation from the metro board be sent to Health Minister Eric Martin for an interview with a view to getting grants for salaries.

The services of a psychologist and psychiatrist would enable school nurse and physician to detect emotional disturbance or mental illness early; to treat early; discover moderately retarded; refer mentally ill children to provincial mental health services; assist family and Children's Service with foster children and problem families and help the probation service and family children's courts with assessments.

The special school referred to should be the combined effort of school districts 61, 62 and 63, the Greater Victoria Association for the Retarded, Cerebral Palsy Association and the Polio-myelitis and Rehabilitation Foundation, Dr. Whitbread said.

In addition, the report says, the provincial government should provide a mental health centre to include 400 beds for treatment of emotionally disturbed and severely retarded children, facilities for 50 day patients and residential accommodation for at least 36 children of all age groups for care and training of the emotionally disturbed.

The $300 fine was imposed on Robert Russell, 32 Gorge Road West. He was arrested on Pandora after hitting a parked car.

WARDEN HALL
... western director

Ex-Victorian Named to Penal Post

Three promotions within the federal penitentiary service in western Canada were announced at Ottawa today.

An ex-Victorian, warden Thomas Watson Hall of New Westminster Penitentiary has been elevated to the new post of director of the western region of the service.

Deputy warden John Moloney takes over as warden.

H. A. Collins, superintendent of the William Head Institution here, becomes deputy warden at New Westminster.

The promotions take effect April 1. No appointment has yet been made to fill Mr. Collins' post at William Head pending a competition between now and April 1.

Warden Hall, 51, is the son of a former Victoria police sergeant, the late Tom Hall. The warden joined the service as a guard in 1939 and served through the ranks. He was a major in the army overseas in Second World War and later commanded the Westminster Regiment as lieutenant-colonel.

An expert rifleman, Warden Hall has represented Canada on the Bisley team in England. He is noted for his experience with inmate training programs.

Mr. Moloney, 48, has been in the service since 1957 and was first superintendent of the Agassiz Correctional Institution. He is an RAF-RCAF veteran.

Mr. Collins, 58, joined the penitentiary service in 1948 and came to William Head in 1959.

Ask The Times

Q. What is the difference between sherbert and ice cream? Has one more calorie content than the other? R. M. S.

A. Ice cream is primarily a milk product. Sherbert has considerably less milk solids, including fat.

Sherbert has between one and two per cent butterfat but is high in sugar which increases the calorie content. Ice cream has the highest calorie content of the two because it is much higher in butter fat.

Ice cream cannot be less than 36 per cent by weight in food solids. Sherbert must not contain more than five per cent by weight of food solids. Weight in sherbert is made up by its sugar content.

Chess players will see how the game should be played when Vancouver Island champion Olavi Sarakannas takes on 30 players at one time in an exhibition March 9.

FLORISTS' SAFE FOUND BROKEN OPEN

A safe reported stolen from Woodward's Florists, 635 Fort, was found Sunday morning in premises on Wharf Street, city police reported today.

The safe, which had been forced open with a crowbar, was found by two cleaners who entered the premises early in the day.

City police said about $100 cash was stolen from the safe.

City council today was asked to permit the proposed sightseeing stern-wheeler boats that will be operating from an Inner Harbor float to set up a ticket booth on the Causeway this summer.

Professor C. S. Burchill, head of the history and economics department, United Services College, Royal Roads, will speak on "China 1963" to Victoria Canadian Club, Feb. 25 at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. Olive Stuart and W. H. Gregory will be guest speakers at a meeting of the Registered Music Teachers' Association Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the home of Eric Edwards, 119 Linden Avenue.

The Air Force Officers' Association of Vancouver Island will mark its 18th anniversary at a meeting in the officers' lounge, Air Force Building, 1212 Quadra Street, Wednesday at 8:15 p.m.

After a short business meeting, presentations will be made to 10 former presidents. Two short films will then be shown—"Machines to Move the Mail" (1960) and "Hovercraft" (1962).

Victorians walk faster than the average North American.

Teams of sly young men armed with stop-watches last fall put the lie to the old saw about the slow-moving habits of city pedestrians.

We walk at an average rate of 4.28 feet per second, or 2.92 miles per hour. University of Victoria researcher Peter D. C. Clark, a graduate student, observes:

"This figure is worthy of note for it is commonly held that Victoria's pedestrians are among the slowest in North America. This, however, is not borne out in fact."

And he quotes from an Institute of Traffic Engineers handbook:

"Average walking speeds on level sidewalks have been found to vary from 3.5 to 4.5 feet per second, depending upon temperature, type of crowd, density of sidewalk use and other factors..."

So what? Apart from illustrating some amusing sidelights about Victoria pedestrians, the survey conducted by Mr. Clark for his urban geography course is a useful statistical report for the Capital Region Planning Board and is of interest to businesses that depend on walk-in clientele.

The survey also can be used by city traffic and street planners, especially with relation to urban renewal and beautification.

Pedestrian speed, percentage of those who stop to look in store windows, and factors that stop or hinder pedestrian movement were the items surveyed.

To get accurate figures, field teams found they had to stop on pedestrians from vantage points across the street, or else they attracted too much attention to themselves.

Other times, they trailed shoppers a la private eye, timing them as they made their way from point to point.

Since the survey depended in part on the age of the subjects, field men had some fun guessing, particularly with women. They found:

Women almost invariably stop to look in a storefront more frequently than males. If one person has stopped it is likely another will stop. If a person has just made a stop he is reluctant to make another immediately.

Walk-don't-walk signals can slow a pedestrian's progress by nearly a minute (53 seconds) if he misses the "walk" phase. Unusual sounds like screeching tires, sirens and low-flying aircraft bring pedestrians pause.

The covered sidewalk on Yates Street is highly popular with shoppers.

Females will open-stop to look at a baby, and children to pet a dog.

"Finally, there is the arresting quality of human curiosity, be it to stop and observe a construction project or to ask the writer what he was doing with a stop-watch," Mr. Clark said.

Janitors Strike Schools in France

PARIS (AP)—About 45,000 employees of public schools went on strike in France today for higher pay.

The strike, scheduled to last through Tuesday, was called by unions representing employees who tend heating systems and serve school lunches. In many cases, these jobs were taken over temporarily by other personnel.

Spanish Trawlers Seized Off Nfld.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The federal department of fisheries said today it apprehended two Spanish trawlers for an alleged violation of the three-mile fishing limit.

The patrol vessel Cape Freels was reported to have seized the trawlers Abrego and Santa Marina in St. George's Bay on Newfoundland's west coast. They were escorted to Port Aux Basques, Nfld., but were later released.

Union Claims Backing of Trustees

OTTAWA (CP)—The membership drive by the Canadian Maritime Union was launched after consultation with the board of marine union trustees, William Dodge, executive vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said today.

Mr. Dodge said he checked personally with the trustees several weeks ago in Montreal on their reaction to an organization campaign to expand CMU members.

TV Technicians Strike in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Television technicians walked off their jobs at CFTO to protest the dismissal of eight men, a union official said.

The CTV station was expected to remain on the air by screening films. No live programs can be broadcast without the technicians.

Debate on Cyprus
Postponed by UN

(Times News Services)

UNITED NATIONS—In a surprise move, the United Nations Security Council today postponed for 24 hours scheduled debate on the Cyprus problem.

U.K. Accuses
Cypriots
Of Smuggling

LONDON (Reuters)—Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys said today he made "a most vigorous protest" to Cypriot Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou Sunday about the flow of arms into Cyprus.

Sandys told the House of Commons:

"I explained to him that we had ample information to show that this import of arms is taking place with the full knowledge and approval of the Cyprus government."

Sandys, reporting on the latest situation in Cyprus, also said the British government remained convinced the revised Anglo-American plan for an international force on the island afforded "the most reasonable and rapid means of creating in Cyprus a peace-keeping force."

Commenting on Britain's weekend decision to put the Cyprus issue before the United Nations Security Council, Sandys said the British government was not prepared to support a resolution in the council which could be interpreted as an accusation of aggressive intentions against any of the guarantor powers, Britain, Greece and Turkey.

Nor would Britain support a resolution overriding any of the three treaties concluded after Cyprus received independence.

Strike
Talks
'Possible'

Possibility was seen today of renewed negotiations this week in the 12-day-old shipyard strike.

David Chapman, chief union negotiator in the strike which has idled the "big three" yards here and in Vancouver, said that fresh union-management talks could be initiated sometime today.

He said that if more talks are decided upon, they will probably take place this week.

UNIONS THINKING

"The unions are doing a lot of thinking," he said.

"There's no great difference of opinion," he added, commenting on a weekend press report that differing views are keeping the 22 unions from presenting a common front.

"There is one basic position, and no matter what comes up, if the majority accepts, there'll be no problem."

TWO-YEAR PACT

Unions are basically seeking a two-year contract, with possible alternatives of wage increases over the two years of 40 cents or 30 cents.

Mr. Chapman said union demands at the negotiating table are much governed by the management position.

New Session
'Acid Test'
For Cabinet

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament meets Tuesday with a changed executive and a slightly different mood from the post-election session of last May.

The session, which starts with the reading of the throne speech by Governor-General Vanier, will be the acid test of the new ministerial lineup and cabinet reorganization worked out by Prime Minister Pearson since the last session in December.

It also may see less attention from the opposition parties to the issues arising from last spring's election that brought the minority Liberal government to power.

The Progressive Conservatives, fresh from efforts at national convention to head the party firmly on the back trail, are expected to spend more time on the "should-be" of the legislative program than the "might-have-beens" of their losing election effort last year.

NO DANGER

Although outnumbered 136 to 129 by the combined opposition parties, the Liberals are in no real danger of the kind of Commons defeat which would cause an election—always presuming

NICOSIA (Reuters)—Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani, United Nations observer in Cyprus, said today Greek and Turkish Cypriots in the northwestern mining town of Polis had agreed at his urging not to fight each other.

Earlier reports said Greek Cypriots had surrounded 700 Turkish Cypriots in Polis. One hundred British paratroopers were reported heading for the town.

A British military spokesman, announcing the manoeuvre, said the Turks were inside a school building, dispirited and short of food. Greeks were dug in 100 yards away.

There was no shooting overnight but the situation was tense, the spokesman said.

Ruby Acquittal
Bid Thrown Out

DALLAS (UPI)—Defence lawyers vainly sought a directed verdict of acquittal at the start of Jack Ruby's murder trial today and then lost a bid to have jurors searched as a precaution against "the climate of Dallas." (See Page 3.)

Rejecting the defence demands, Judge Joe B. Brown called in a panel of 150 prospective jurors for questioning behind locked doors. He ordered 10 to return for further questioning and 100 were told to report back Tuesday morning. Fifteen women were excused.

Chief defence attorney Melvin Bell charged outside the court that "our (hotel) rooms have been bugged, our briefcases gone through and our telephones tapped."

But he said he was sure his room was not "bugged" now with any eavesdropping device.

SMILING

Ruby, smiling cheerfully, entered the court through a little green door and took a seat at the defence table, where he intently studied the names of would-be jurors.

The defence asked Brown for a verdict of acquittal on grounds Ruby suffers "organic brain damage" and psychomotor epilepsy, which causes "blackouts." The defence argued the 52-year-old slayer of accused presidential assassin

Lee Harvey Oswald was innocent on those grounds.

Brown rejected the motion and another motion that Ruby should be freed on grounds of double jeopardy.

All spectators and newsmen entering the room were frisked for weapons. The defence demanded that members of the jury panel be submitted to the same thorough search by deputies and court matrons.

"Jurors must be searched to show the climate of Dallas," Bell said, as part of the defence contention that Dallas cannot give Ruby a fair trial through fear and animosity.

"This is the court's business, not the business of the defence," said Assistant-District Attorney A. D. (Jim) Bowie.

B.C. Delegates
Tell Ottawa

By JOHN MIKA

Prime Minister Pearson today was asked to rebuild the defunct Canadian merchant marine to stabilize the west coast shipbuilding industry.

This could provide the long-range answer for the industry's main problems, Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson said when summing up a brief he presented to the prime minister in Ottawa.

The brief was released simultaneously here. It was carried to Ottawa by Mayor Wilson, Chamber of Commerce president E. E. Pearlman, labor representative Ald. A. W. Toone and North Vancouver Mayor W. M. Angus.

IMPENDING CRISIS

The five-page brief warned Mr. Pearson of an "impending crisis in our shipyards" and suggested two immediate aids:

● Letting of contracts forthwith, for this coast's shipyards, of the proposed three Esquimalt-based destroyer-escort multi-million-dollar conversions.

● Expediting of the five-year $165,000,000 federal shipbuilding program with a higher proportion of the work going to the west coast.

"There is need also to take a serious look at the need for long-range stabilization of the west coast shipbuilding industry with its past history of 'feast or famine'," the mayor's brief said.

START REBUILDING

"The answer to this could well be a start on the rebuilding of a Canadian merchant marine."

"It is hoped this will have the serious consideration of your government."

The brief said the government's decision to reorient and modernize the defence establishment was courageous but changes of such magnitude could disrupt vital industries.

The majority of the big west coast shipyards face "the grim prospect of unemployment" while undergoing the impact of warship mothballing plans and cancellation of the all-purpose frigate program.

INSTANT WORK

"The need now is for 'instant work' in these yards if we are to forestall large-scale unemployment," it said.

Mayor Wilson pointed out that Greater Victoria's present unemployment rate stands at 8.17 per cent of the labor force, compared with a national average of 7.5 per cent.

OTTAWA—Victoria Mayor R. B. Wilson today said he received a "very sympathetic hearing" from Prime Minister Pearson when he submitted a brief to the government seeking more government work for B.C. shipyards.

"Of course," he added, "we didn't expect the prime minister or Mr. Drury (industry minister) to make a decision today. There was no indication given of which way any decision might go."

"It is up to them. We have done our best."

Before meeting with the prime minister and the industry minister, Mayor Wilson sent to the prime minister a box of spring flowers from Victoria.

"The prime minister was delighted," Mayor Wilson reported.

Feeder Lines

OTTAWA—Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill today said he wanted to "clarify" reports that he had urged Trans-Canada Airlines to get out of feeder line operations and leave such routes to smaller private airlines.

"What I said," stated Mr. Pickersgill about reports of his weekend speech in Edmonton, "was not meant to be a forecast of anything that was going to happen."

"I was merely referring to what had happened in the Prairie milk run, for instance. Asked if his remarks might apply to future operation of the Victoria-Vancouver run, Pickersgill said, "No."

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—AFL-CIO president George Meany

gave tacit approval today to a union boycott that has halted loading of American wheat for Russia in two gulf coast ports.

But he said he was working at President Johnson's request to settle the dispute between maritime unions and the government that led to the longshoremen's refusal to handle grain in New Orleans and Houston.

The problem would be settled, Meany told a news conference, if the administration would see to it that 50 per cent of the Russian-bound wheat is sent in American-flag vessels.

He indicated he was seeking new assurances from officials in Washington to achieve that objective.

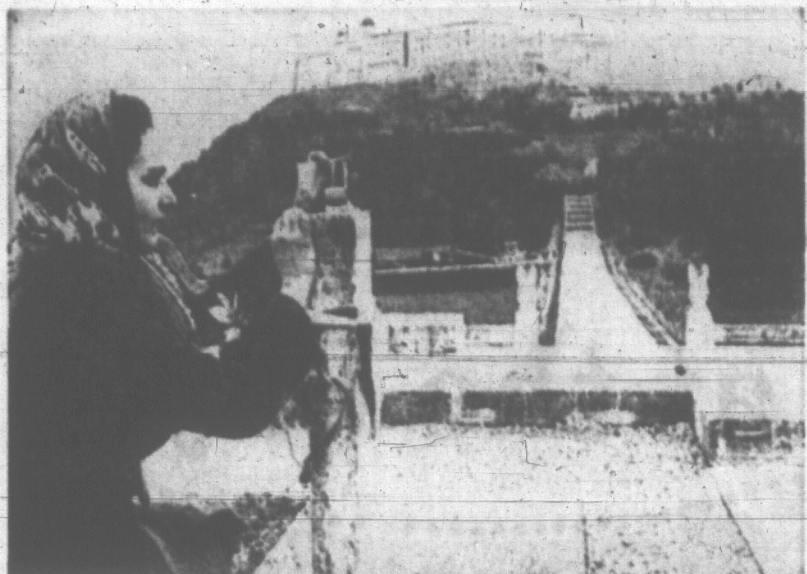

THERE'S NO TIME

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Extreme pressures on school children are driving them towards heart attacks and nervous breakdowns, a college professor says.

Professor Ronald C. Doll of Hunter College, City University of New York, said children are given little time just to be children.

"Children who come home from school after a day of intense activity have to be hauled away to their music or dancing lessons, to a medical specialist, to special language instruction, and infinitum to heart attacks and breakdowns."

The garden-by-night gang struck for the third time Saturday and raised more than 40 assorted plants from seven homes in a suburb just north of Seattle.

The night before about 55 shrubs vanished from residences in west Seattle, and Thursday night more than 60 expensive plants were spaded up on the east side of town.

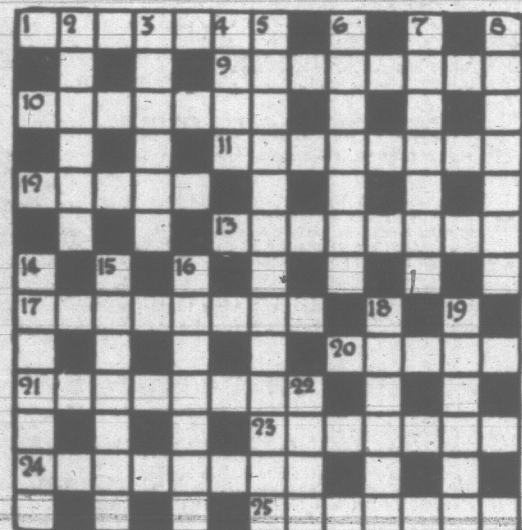

Officers theorize the thieves are well-versed in the gardening vocation. They seem to concentrate on rhododendrons, azaleas and viburnum and remove the plants during darkness with expertise. Many of the missing plants are valued up to $25 each.

WIRE BRIEFS

Cease-Fire Failure

ADDIS ABABA (AP) — A cease-fire in the Ethiopian-Somali border squabble appeared today to have fallen through as each side accused the other of new attacks.

2 On Missing Copter

TRENTON, Ont. (CP) — An Okanagan Airways helicopter with two men aboard, reported missing Sunday north of Fort Albany on the west coast of James Bay, was the object of a wide-spread search today.

Their names were not available.

13 Deaths in U.S.

BOSTON (AP) — A sneak northeastern United States storm whipped by gale force winds deposited up to 18 inches of snow and caused at least 13 deaths in New England. Many highways, cleared of all but an inch or two of packed snow, became covered by sheets of ice.

Woman Forced To Quit Post

ST. VINCENT (Reuters) — The wife of the chief minister of this small British colony in the Windward Islands resigned her cabinet post Saturday after Britain said it would cut off aid until she did so.

But Mrs. Ivy Inez Joshua, minister without portfolio in her husband's administration, said she was confident of reelection in the next election.

She said she was resigning voluntarily as not to hamper her husband, Ebenezer Joshua, who heads the limited rule government on this island.

British Colonial Secretary Duncan Sandys told the British Parliament Tuesday he would not allow the £500,000 a year aid Britain gave to St. Vincent to continue if Mrs. Joshua did not resign.

Sandys said an investigating commission found her interfering improperly with the St. Vincent public works department, where serious financial irregularities had occurred.

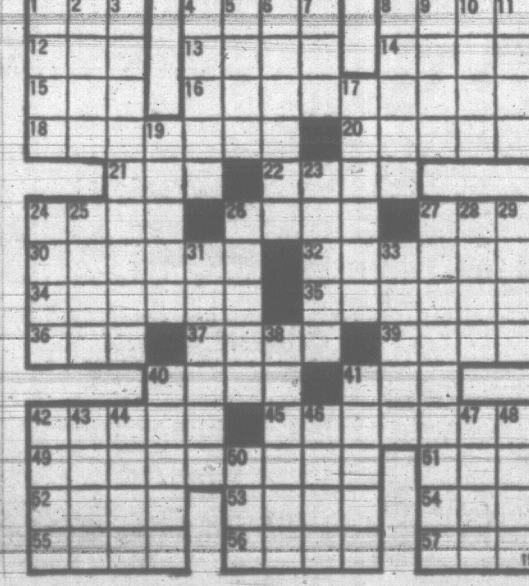

The Windward Islands — Grenada, The Grenadines, Dominica, St. Vincent and Lucia — form the eastern part of the British West Indies. The island has a population of 81,000.

Grenade Hurdled

SAIGON (UPI) — Terrorists tossed a grenade at the automobile of a U.S. army officer here tonight 24 hours after the bombing of a U.S. armed forces movie theatre that killed three Americans and injured 49 others. (See story page 8.)
